CALIFORNIA REPORTS 8,213 INFLUENZA CASES

Other States Report Total of 15,000, Montana Leading, With 3,372.

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—With 8,213 cases of influenza reported in California, and 15,000 in the country as a whole, the United States public health service today warned physicians and health officers to be especially vigilant to forestall another widespread epidemic.

State health officers reported the following numbers of cases in their states for the week ending December 1: Montana, 3,372; Oregon, 290; Utah, 258; Arizona, 300; South Carolina, 278; Georgia, 344; Alabama, 198; and Indiana 261. Several other states had less than 100 cases. In every state reported, there are at least a few cases.

The first cases reported were in San Francisco, several weeks ago. Apparently, the health service explains, the disease spread to Hollywood, thence west, and less extensively south and east.

Dr. R. C. Williams cautioned against mingling with crowds and advocated sleeping in open air, and the usual necessary precautions to prevent coming in contact with the disease.

GEORGIA CASES REPORTED MILD.

The cases of influenza which have been reported in Georgia are mild, according to physicians. This state's total of 344 cases is far below the three states severely affected—California, Montana and South Carolina.

SARGON OVERCOMES 15 YEARS OF SUFFERING

"I Became Convinced That An Operation Was My Only Hope," Declares Mrs. White, After Trip to Hot Springs Failed To Bring Relief—Says She Cannot Express Her Gratitude to New, Scientific Treatment.

"When you have suffered for 15 long years and become convinced that an operation is your only hope, you can imagine the joy and surprise it gave me to get hold of a medicine that has overcome all my troubles. I tell you it's just like getting a new lease on life. Well, that's just what Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills have done for me and I can't begin to tell you how grateful I am to the makers of this wonderful new treatment."

The above statement was made a few days ago by Mrs. Stella White, at her pretty little home, 448 Linden Ave., Memphis, when telling the story of her suffering to the Sargon representative, who was visiting her to obtain the facts in connection with the recovery of her health.

"For fifteen long years I have had chronic indigestion and constipation and I was finally told I had a serious case of gall bladder trouble. It was serious, because even treatments at Hot Springs did me no good and I had practically decided to have an operation and have my gall bladder and appendix taken out, when I became interested in the new Sargon treatment through the articles in the newspapers.

"I just can't tell you the misery I suffered with that heavy, distressed feeling in my stomach and that bloating with gas that would often press on my heart and cause it to palpitate frightfully. I was so nervous and sometimes so dizzy I could hardly stand. Nothing would give me any real relief from constipation and I became so weak and felt so run-down life was hardly worth living. I had scarcely any appetite and lost fully fifteen pounds in weight. My skin was very sallow, my tongue was always coated and I had a bad, bitter taste in my mouth all the time.

"I dreaded the very thought of an operation and I don't believe I can ever be grateful enough to Sargon for

Wife Is Witness As Husband Weds Another Woman

New York, December 5.—(AP)—Married for 13 years, but resigned to her husband's infatuation for another woman, Mrs. Herbert J. Leigh-Manuelle left her three sons at their Sayville home today and accompanied her husband and the "other woman" to the Marble Collegiate church here, where she acted as a witness to their marriage.

Tonight Leigh-Manuelle was in the Sayville jail charged with bigamy. His "bride" was weeping in her father's home, Mrs. Leigh-Manuelle was at her home taking care of the children.

The wife said her husband, a music teacher, had been infatuated with Miss Martha Can Weyn, 19, for a long time. Today she said he induced her to decoy Miss Van Weyn from her home, to accompany them to the marriage license bureau here and to serve as a witness to their marriage.

When the three returned together to Sayville Miss Van Weyn's father and Leigh-Manuelle came to blows and police were called in.

PILGRIMS HAIL SIGNING OF PACT TO END ALL WAR

London, December 5.—(AP)—A distinguished company tonight attended the dinner of the Pilgrims society to celebrate the signing of the Kellogg pact for renunciation of war. United States Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton, and Sir Austen Chamberlain, secretary of state for foreign affairs, were the principal guests. Others present were the lord chancellor, Viscount Cecil, of Chelwood; Lord Hardinge and Lord Dunsford; the former Archbishop of Canterbury, Lord Desborough presided.

Ambassador Houghton told the guests that the five thousand miles of unfortified and unguarded American-Canadian frontier are proof sufficient to the world that two peoples, by side not armed against each other.

LOUISVILLE GAMBLER NOW LISTED 'MISSING'

Big Time Splurges Is "Taken for Ride;" Ransom Plot Seen.

Louisville, Ky., December 5.—(AP)—Ed Alvey, big-time bookmaker and gambler, who has been many times entangled in the toils of the law, but seldom penalized, was "taken for a ride" Monday night, possibly by members of his own profession, and today he was listed in official police records as "missing."

Alvey, said to have been a personal friend of Arnold Rothstein, slain New York gambler, was forced to enter a closed automobile in front of his South Fourth avenue home by six men who followed him into the machine and drove away. A woman, whose name officers have refused to divulge, said she made a subject of vengeance because of her aid to their investigation, told police that at least two of Alvey's abductors brandished revolvers as they marched him across the street to where the car was parked.

Kidnaping for ransom is a capital offense under a Kentucky law passed at the 1928 legislature, punishable by death or life imprisonment.

Members of the gambler's family did not learn of his abduction until Tuesday when one of his associates received an anonymous telephone call asking if he could cash Alvey's personal check for $50,000. Although no definite demand for ransom has been received, officers believe the gambler was kidnaped by racketeers seeking to "shake him down" for a large amount of money. One police theory was that gamblers who had lost money on the 60-year-old gambler's books had abducted him.

On the verge of hysteria today, Mrs. Alvey announced willingness to meet a demand for $50,000 to secure release of her husband.

Tracing the abduction automobile through description and license number checked by the woman who witnessed the kidnaping, officers learned that it was rented from a local garage Monday afternoon and returned the same night after having been driven 24 miles. Dark spots on the floor rug resembling bloodstains are being investigated.

The car was rented by a man who represented himself as a Chicago sales manager for an automobile concern, garage attendants said. Unable to furnish local references, the man had produced one of the company's identification cards, issued in Florida, and was allowed use of the car. Investigation today revealed that the Chicago address which he gave is fictitious, detectives said.

The career of the 60-year-old gambler, described by associates as the "bookie with a percentage mind," has been as colorful as it has been varied, and many times the tinge has been shady. Once he was accused of being the "brains" of a conspiracy to have the favorite "killed" in a Kentucky Derby. That was in 1911 when large sums were lost on Governor Gray, the favorite, when Meridian flashed under the wire winner, Captain Jim Williams, of Spring Station, owned by a favorite which finished second, openly charged that the race was thrown and held Alvey responsible.

Alvey came to Louisville from Middleboro, Ky., 35 years ago and almost immediately became the storm center of an open warfare between the various gambling cliques of the city. At length the law and order league, and Anti-Vice association, took a hand and secured his indictment on a charge of running a gambling house. Special attorneys were employed to assist the state in his prosecution and he was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary. Before he had served a day, however, he was free on a pardon issued by J. C. W. Beckham, then governor.

BABY ASPHYXIATED RIDING IN MOTOR CAR LAP IN MOTOR CAR

Little Rock, Ark., December 5.—(AP)—The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Henry, of Adkins, Ark., was asphyxiated by what physicians said was ethelene monoxide while riding in his mother's lap in an automobile near here today.

Two other children were made ill and other occupants, including the mother, were slightly affected by the fumes which seeped into the partly enclosed car from the exhaust.

The child, James, was found to be unconscious when the car stopped after reaching the city. He was taken to a hospital but efforts to revive him failed.

VARE BIOGRAPHY IN NEW DIRECTORY OF U. S. CONGRESS

Washington, December 5.—(United News)—Although William S. Vare has not been seated as a republican senator from Pennsylvania, his name is listed in the new congressional directory as well as his biography—a resume of his career given except to full-fledged senators.

Committee assignment: fail to include his name, however.

Senator Caraway, Arkansas democrat, won all honors for the short biography. He simply noted he was a "democrat, Jonesboro, Ark."

LEADERS OF DEMOCRACY TO HOLD CONFERENCE

New York, December 5.—(AP)—A conference of leaders of the democratic party will be called shortly after the Christmas holidays by National Chairman John J. Raskob, for a discussion of organization plans and for evolution of a program for the next four years.

Governor Smith, leaders of the house and senate and national committeemen probably will be invited to attend. The meeting will be informal and probably will take no definite action.

Whether or not he will retain the chairmanship of the party Mr. Raskob indicated will depend on the attitude of the party leaders.

"Personally I have not yet given any thought to this question," he said. "My personal inclination is to take an absolutely unselfish attitude in this matter."

There has been criticism by certain southern leaders of Mr. Raskob's continued chairmanship, notably from Governor Dan Moody, of Texas, who blamed the chairman for the break in the solid south in the last election.

Mr. Raskob indicated that if he should be retained as chairman he should carry on a militant campaign during the next four years.

HOSIERY SALESMAN FLOGGED BY FOUR FOR KISS ATTEMPT

Sanford, Fla., December 5.—(AP)—Four men who late last night beat J. T. Kiern, 24, Jacksonville hosiery salesman, today were sentenced to flogging to kiss the sister of one of the men, were released on bond by Seminole county officials today after they were charged with a conspiracy to "unlawful assembly" and will be tried in the next term of Seminole court.

The men are E. C. Baker, Sam Beal, L. E. Rigney, and J. T. Cowan, all of Sanford. Cowan's sister, it is alleged, reported that Kiern had made advances to her yesterday, and the beating was administered when the four found the hosiery salesman on a Sanford street last night.

2 BILLS URGE QUIZ BY CONGRESS INTO VESTRIS SINKING

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—Two resolutions calling for congressional investigations into the sinking of the Vestrif off the Atlantic coast last month were introduced today in the senate.

Chairman Jones, of the senate commerce committee, proposed appointment of a joint congressional committee to inquire into the disaster, and Senator Wagner, democrat, of New York, asked for a senate investigation. Both resolutions were referred without discussion to the senate commerce committee.

Wife of Noah Beery, Villain of Screen, Sues Him for Divorce

Los Angeles, December 5.—(AP)—Noah N. Beery, Jr., screen villain, was sued for divorce in superior court here today by Marguerite W. L. Beery, who charged that he continued his villainous conduct in their home, making her the victim.

Beery in her suit said that her husband's villainous conduct began in 1924 and continued until they were separated May 4, 1927. She stated in the complaint that on the occasion he forced her to flee from the house in her night clothes at the point of a pistol. The complaint also said that Beery delighted in making slanderous remarks about her to his friends.

ADALF BOEUF, DREHER TO GET BRIEF REPRIEVE

Approaching Holidays Factor in Staying Execution Until Jan. 5.

Franklin, La., December 5.—(United News)—Governor Huey P. Long will grant Mrs. Adalfe Boeuf and Dr. Thomas Dreher, sentenced to hang for the murder of the woman's husband, reprieve until January 5.

Mrs. Boeuf learned here today after a long distance telephone conversation between Lieutenant Governor Paul N. Cyr and Sheriff Charles Peck.

It was said the approaching Christmas holidays were a factor in the governor's decision.

Preparations are being made to hold a mass meeting here Monday night to demand a reopening of the case before the board of pardons, December.

The admitted lovers were condemned to die December 21, and heard the death warrant read Tuesday.

Mrs. Boeuf interrupted the reading with her weeping and Dr. Dreher wanted to know if there were "just one more chance."

James Beaulieu, interpreter, was sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in the crime. Jim Le Boeuf was shot to death in a skiff on a bayou, December.

Posters bearing the signatures of prominent persons of St. Mary parish, in which Dr. Dreher lived, are being printed in connection with the efforts to obtain clemency.

JADWIN OPPOSES DREDGE PROJECTS IN GEORGIA RIVERS

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, today in a report to congress disapproved expansion or initiation of river and harbor projects including the following:

Charleston, S. C., and St. John river channels from inland waterway to Bluffton, S. C., to get shorter route between Bluffton and Savannah; conditions in Calhoun sound and adjacent waters, to justify expenditure for an auxiliary channel.

St. Marys and Satilla rivers, Georgia, to construct canal and dredge river channels from inland waterway to Bluffton, S. C., to get shorter route between Bluffton and Savannah; conditions in Calhoun sound and adjacent waters, to justify expenditure for an auxiliary channel.

Black river, Georgia, to improve channel from St. Simons sound to plant a large expense held out of proportion to benefits.

POLICE OF MOBILE SEEK ASPHYXIATED WOMAN'S FRIENDS

Mobile, Ala., December 5.—(AP)—A white woman apparently 40 years of age found dead in a small apartment here today is believed to be Mrs. S. Morton, of San Francisco, Calif. The woman came here on Saturday from Biloxi, Miss., and registered at the Battle House from the Pacific coast city. Efforts to locate her relatives have failed. Her papers showed that she had $400 on deposit in a New Orleans bank and that she had also visited that city.

County Coroner S. F. Hale after viewing the body said that she was a victim of gas fumes from a heater that was found unlighted but the woman had a newspaper in her hands and was fully dressed.

WASHINGTON MAN KILLS, WIFE, CHILD AND THEN SUICIDES

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—Returning from work today, Mrs. Myra Midkiff was unable to get into her home and when police forced the doors, inside were found the bodies of her daughter, Norma, 6; her mother, Mrs. Norma E. Midkiff, 43, and that of her mother's husband, Thomas B. Midkiff, 51.

The coroner returned a verdict that Midkiff killed his wife and step-daughter and then shot himself.

Midkiff, clerk in the war department and former patrolman, had not been to work for two days, his step-daughter said, and had been drinking heavily.

Mrs. Midkiff was shot twice, the little girl twice and Midkiff once through the head. A revolver was near the man's body.

Midkiff formerly lived in Alexandria, Va., and is said to have relatives in Atlanta.

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—President Herbert Hoover was mentioned in the house today for the first time since opening day, an observation coming from Representative Huddleston, democrat, Alabama, that Hoover might be encroaching upon the functions of the diplomatic service in his South American good-will tour.

Representative La Guardia, republican, New York, defended Hoover's voyage as likely to result in some good but he regretted that it is being made aboard a battleship.

FIRST BILL PASSED BY HOUSE PROVIDES SESSION DOCTOR

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—The legislative machinery of congress began functioning today and the first measure of the new session was passed in the house.

It was a resolution proposed by Chairman Britten, of the naval committee, to authorize the secretary of the navy to appoint a medical officer to attend all house sessions to administer first aid in any emergency illness among the members. It was prompted, Mr. Britten said, by the numerous casualties among representatives in past sessions.

J. P. Hoskins, former president of the First National, will be at the head of the new institution, while W. A. Sudd, president of the Chattanooga Savings, is chairman of the board of directors. The banks involved are two of the oldest financial institutions in the city.

BILL FOR NAVAL WORKS IS APPROVED BY HOUSE

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—A measure to authorize the secretary of the navy to proceed with the construction of naval works at almost a score of stations was passed today by the house and sent to the senate. The bill would authorize $10,000,000 to be made available for the purpose.

The measure provides for construction as follows:

CONGRESS STARTS WORK WITH MANY REPORTS

Budget and First of Appropriation Bills Are Presented.

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—With a plea for frugality in spending the nation's funds, President Coolidge today placed before congress a budget calling for around four billion dollars to run the government next year, and the senate and house without delay began work on legislation designed to account for more than one-fourth of its amount.

While the budget, calling for $3,750,710,647 from the treasury, and not accounting for postoffice funds, was being submitted by messenger, the house and laid before it the treasury-postoffice appropriation bill carrying more than a billion dollars for the two departments, and the senate at the same time took up the Boulder dam bill, now estimated by an engineers' survey to involve an expenditure of $165,000,000.

It was the first real business day of the session for both the senate and house. Besides the budget and the appropriation bills, it brought the resignation of Senator Dupont, republican, of Delaware, who has been ill for a long time; saw new investigating proposals offered and found committees more active.

Incidentally the annual report of Secretary Mellon, which showed a gross public debt at the close of the last fiscal year of $17,004,290,500, nearly a billion less than the year before, was submitted. The secretary again urged congress to remove the surtax from government securities to put the government on an equality with the states in dealing in such securities.

Chairman Borah and his foreign relations committee did not act upon the Kellogg treaty to renounce war as an instrument of national policy, but postponed consideration of that document until Secretary Kellogg could be heard later in the week. It was not indicated whether any other witnesses would be heard either in favor of or against the treaty which President Coolidge has urged should be approved during his administration.

Take Up Boulder Dam.

On the floor of the senate the Port Rican and Florida hurricanes were taken as the subject of the opening debate, although Boulder dam is the legislation holding the right of way. Floridians wanted their state protected in any hurricane relief loan. When this subject was put aside finally, the Boulder bill got the place it was occupying at the end of the last session, Senator Ashurst, of Arizona, an opponent, agreeing to the substitution of the bill already passed by the house for the senate bill. He reserved the right to reoffer the 90 amendments he has pending.

Two resolutions for investigation of the disaster to the steamship Vestria were offered in the senate—by Jones, of Washington, and Wagner, of New York, while Senator Walsh, of Montana, taking up the inquiry by the federal trade commission into public utility power financing submitted two bills which he had drafted to deal with utility matters in newspapers and schools. At the same time the Montanan suggested that further efforts be made to bring H. M. Blackmer, a recalcitrant oil witness, back to this country to answer charges against him.

The house had a variety of reading matter before it from the report of the hearings on the treasury-postoffice bill, dealing with the difficulty in combating liquor and narcotic smugglers, the only mention of politics came from Representative Huddleston, an Alabama democrat, who suggested that Herbert Hoover might be stepping on the toes of the diplomatic service during his South American tour. His suggestion was allowed to pass over.

Mr. Fleck will talk on "Niagara Power and Industry," supplementing his address with two reels of motion pictures that reveal the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls and industrial developments of that region.

Among the internationally-known enterprises that will be presented to members of the local junior chamber through one of Mr. Fleck's films will be the Shredfast Wheat company, U. S. L. Battery corporation, Carbonyl-undum company, Hooker Electro-Chemical company and Niagara Wall Paper company. The film also will include views of the Schokoff plant, the nation's largest hydro-electric station, which contains three of the world's largest water-driven turbines, each of which is capable of generating enough power to supply a city of 250,000 people, Mr. Fleck said, in commenting on the films.

Weather Today

Today, for the second time this winter, Atlanta will experience sub-freezing temperature, according to the forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, head of the local United States weather bureau, who says that a minimum of approximately 25 will be registered this morning. The sudden drop will be accompanied by clear skies and moderate winds, he stated.

Wednesday morning gave no indication of the more frigid weather to come, as the mercury started what was supposed to be its daily climb at 54 degrees. In this instance, however, the climb turned out to be a drop and by 9 o'clock the official reading showed 46 degrees. By 3 o'clock it had slipped up to 49 but shortly thereafter fell off again and began a steady drop which was expected to end in the neighborhood of 25 degrees. The maximum today will be about 40, the weather man thinks.

MRS. C. C. HARPER
STRUCK BY AUTO
IN WASHINGTON, D.C.Ragsdale and Others Decline
To Discuss Problem With Safety Council.

Mr. Charles C. Harper, who, with her husband, prominent retired Atlanta business man, has been residing in Washington, D. C., for several months, was the recent victim of an automobile accident in which she suffered a crushed foot.

Mrs. Harper was crossing a street in Washington when she was struck by an automobile. Her foot was seriously crushed by the weight of the moving vehicle, while she suffered minor cuts and bruises. The accident occurred on the day before Thanksgiving. Mrs. Harper's foot was placed in a plaster cast and she has been confined to bed for four weeks.

The Harpers, who for the past seven or eight years have made their residence intermittently in Atlanta, Washington and Miami, are widely known in Georgia and Alabama. Mrs. Harper having come here from Alabama, while Mr. Harper is a native of Rome, Ga., where he now has a large estate.

They left Atlanta for Washington about three months ago, expecting to return here for the Christmas holidays and then to proceed to Miami for the winter. It is thought by Atlanta friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harper that the accident met with by the latter will delay their return to this city.

OFFICIALS STAY AWAY
FROM TRAFFIC LUNCHRagsdale and Others Decline
To Discuss Problem With Safety Council.

Further evidence of a rift between city officials and the Atlanta Safety Council was furnished Wednesday when Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, Councilman Harry York, Alderman J. C. Murphy, Chief of Police James L. Beavers and Recorder A. W. Callaway and Murphy M. Holloway refused invitations to meet with the council at a luncheon Wednesday noon to consider the present traffic problems.

Friction developed between the council and members of the city government when the former body sent a message to Mayor Ragsdale deploring the "inactivity" in the enforcement of traffic laws and intimating that this condition was due in part to negligence on the part of officers and to a certain extent on the part of executive and judicial departments of the municipal government.

Reply to these charges was made in a letter to the council from the mayor, in which he suggested that that body furnish the names of negligent officers to the police committee in the regular manner. He also wrote to Chief Beavers urging that he see that these charges be substantiated by the furnishing of names and explicit information on the alleged laxness of officers.

The mayor, in refusing the invitation of the council, made no statement, having already indicated that to Washington.

Gainesville, Ga., December 5.—(AP) With the resumption of the trial of four officials of the defunct Adair Realty and Trust company, of Atlanta, in federal court here tomorrow on charges of using the mails to defraud, it was expected that government witnesses would continue to relate activities of the firm.

Forrest Adair, Sr., Forrest Adair, Jr., Frank Adair and Evans A. Ervin, the four officials of the company which was forced into bankruptcy in March 1927, with liabilities listed at $400,000, are under indictments charging use of the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of bonds for the erection of hotels at Little Rock, Ark., Knoxville, Tenn., and Birmingham, Ala.

When the firm was placed in the hands of receivers, purchasers of the bonds in more than a score of states lost money. The hotels were never completed.

Court was recessed last Thursday to permit Marion Smith and Reuben Arnold, two defense attorneys, to appear before the United States supreme court in connection with the hearing of the appeal of W. D. Manley, former president of an Atlanta bank, under sentence to prison in connection with the failure of a number of Georgia banks.

Gainesville, Ga., December 5.—(AP) With the resumption of the trial of four officials of the defunct Adair Realty and Trust company, of Atlanta, in federal court here tomorrow on charges of using the mails to defraud, it was expected that government witnesses would continue to relate activities of the firm.

Forrest Adair, Sr., Forrest Adair, Jr., Frank Adair and Evans A. Ervin, the four officials of the company which was forced into bankruptcy in March 1927, with liabilities listed at $400,000, are under indictments charging use of the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of bonds for the erection of hotels at Little Rock, Ark., Knoxville, Tenn., and Birmingham, Ala.

When the firm was placed in the hands of receivers, purchasers of the bonds in more than a score of states lost money. The hotels were never completed.

SUPERVISION URGED
OF GAS MEASURES
BY U. S. ENGINEER

Methods of testing weights and measures used in gasoline and oil filling stations in Georgia were discussed at a conference held at the capitol Wednesday by Ralph W. Smith, senior engineer of the United States board of standards, Washington, D. C., and S. H. Wilson, chief chemist of the state oil inspection department.

Mr. Smith pointed out the necessity of proper supervision of such filling stations. He expressed the opinion that buyers and sellers of oil are 100 per cent basically honest, but pointed out ways in which even the most perfect machinery can dispose of products in erroneous measures.

While the defense under an agreement of counsel presented a few witnesses just before the recess, it was believed the government would resume its testimony tomorrow.

FAMOUS DOCTORS
LAUD MOVEMENT
FOR MENTAL WARD

Letter from two internationally-known psychiatrists, giving their hearty approval of Atlanta's efforts to establish a psychopathic ward in Grady hospital, were received Wednesday by Dr. Newdigate Owensby, Atlanta psychiatrist, who has been active in the fight for a ward for victims of mental disorders.

The letters were written by Dr. C. Macfie Campbell, director of the Boston Psychopathic hospital, and by Dr. M. S. Gregory, head of the psychopathic wards of the Bellevue hospital in New York. Both men were warm in their praise of the movement now on foot in Atlanta—pointing out that the advantages to accrue to the city through such an addition to Grady would be almost invaluable.

The bulk of the estate of the late Louis J. Dinkler, prominent hotel man, who died recently, is left to his widow, Mrs. Rose G. Dinkler, in his will filed Wednesday with the Fulton county ordinary for probate in common form. The will provides that at Mrs. Dinkler's death the estate shall go to the son, Carl Dinkler, if Mrs. Dinkler remarries, then the estate is to be divided between her and the son, the will sets out.

The value of the estate is not given in the will. Oscar Dinkler, brother of the testator, is left $15,000 in the will. Carl Dinkler is named as executor. The will was dated July 13, 1923, with Will Gunn, George L. Keen and John Loti as witnesses.

GEORGIA CENTRAL SEEKS TO ABOLISH
TWO MACON TRAINS

The state public service commission Wednesday took under advisement a petition of the Central Georgia railroad to discontinue operation of passenger trains numbers 11 and 12 between Atlanta and Macon. Strong protest against the move was entered by delegations of business men of Atlanta as well as by citizens of Macon, Griffin, Barnesville and other towns between Atlanta and Macon.

It was contended by the representatives of the railroads that too many passenger trains are now being operated between the two cities and suggested that the business now handled by the two trains in question could be handled by bus lines.

Annual "Petrel Follies"
To Be Shown Tonight
By Oglethorpe Players

The annual edition of the "Petrel Follies," after weeks of preparation, will be presented tonight and Friday night, with the Oglethorpe players occupying the stage at the Forsyth theater.

What with a plenitude of new ideas worked into clever sets and with a generous supply of feminine pulchritude and masculine cleverness to brighten each scene, this year's offering should easily excel the high standard already set by these productions.

Aspects of the contemporary scene furnish the basis upon which many of the skits are laid, while the music will be in the modern theme with portions to be of current "hits" and the rest to be a result of the efforts of embryonic Berlins at the college.

A GEORGIA MADE FABRIC
EISEMAN'S ATLANTA

The "Georgian"

Perhaps you did not know that such fabric is now being woven in Georgia; that forty miles from Atlanta there is a mill producing all wool unfinished worsteds equal to anything of the kind made in New England.

This mill, 50 looms, capacity 10,000 yards of finished cloth per week, is located at Newnan, Georgia.

The parent organization, one of the largest in the woolen industry, is located in Massachusetts. The reason you have heard nothing about it is because it was put here as an experiment, to determine if conditions in the south are favorable to the production of fine worsted fabrics.

The answer is YES! . . . more favorable, in many respects, than New England. Now it is a fixture, and plans are being matured for tremendous expansion.

Frankly, we were thrilled. The very thoughts that almost at our door cloth is being woven that actually surpasses much of the fine clothing fabrics produced in the north, was exciting.

We seized the opportunity . . . quickly. Arranged to have woven especially for us a range of exclusive patterns which have been made into suits—the GEORGIAN.

Now these suits are on display—several models, several patterns—and we should like every person who thrills to the idea of home products to see how very fine and how very attractive they are.

In one of our windows is an exhibit of photographs, raw materials, and finished cloth, showing how and of what the GEORGIAN fabric is made.

Eiseman's

Two Trousers

It really is difficult to describe the cloth in a way that you can appreciate, without seeing, how much better and finer and more attractive they are than most suits you see at $50 to $75.

You will have to feel the soft finish which can only be obtained by using genuine Australian wool, and note the construction of the garments themselves, which are hand-tailored, to realize what a remarkable value you get in GEORGIAN suits for $50—with two pairs of trousers.

Historic Bremen Rescue Plane, Visiting At Candler Field, Attracts Attention

Above, a front view of the famous Bremen rescue plane, C-1077, tri-motored Ford-Stout flier, which is at Candler field to remain for the duration of this week. Insets show its two pilots, Roy Keeler (right) and Harold Gray.

The C-1077, famous tri-motored, Ford-Stout plane that aided in the rescue of the Bremen fliers in Greenland and was the vehicle in which the mother of Charles A. Lindbergh flew to Mexico, is at Candler field and is attracting considerable attention among visitors to the Atlanta airport.

Pilots of this historic plane are Roy Keeler and Harold Gray, both of whom are expert pilots and enjoy the reputation of being among America's most accomplished fliers. They were employed for many months by the Ford company in the air service between Detroit and Buffalo and Detroit and Chicago.

During the past year they entered the service of the Sky View Lines in Detroit, which owns the plane, and during this connection have taken over 14,000 persons up to view Niagara Falls from the air without a mishap of any kind.

On their present southern tour they are visiting Columbus, Ohio, Louisville, Nashville, Chattanooga, Memphis and Birmingham in addition to Atlanta. In carrying passengers the two follow the stringent flying rules of the Ford company, which require among other things that there always be two pilots in the ship. Both fliers have passed the strictest tests and now are flying under direction of the Niagara Falls Chamber of Commerce. Philip N. Fleck, of this organization, is attending the present tour and is making talks on the plane and its purpose.

Visitors are invited to come to Candler field after 9 o'clock in the morning and inspect the plane, which will be here for the rest of the week.

Frances Porter An Undesirable, Cubans Declare

Havana, December 5.—(AP)—Immigration authorities today classed Miss Frances Porter, former New York show girl, as undesirable and notified the United States consulate that they do not wish her to remain in the country, notwithstanding police have served an order on her to appear in court on Saturday to answer charges of lasciviousness made by C. P. Whitehead, Atlanta millionaire and clubman.

Meanwhile Miss Porter remains on the yacht Melvera, the property of Whitehead, anchored in the harbor while Whitehead and his chauffeur are keeping strictly to themselves on shore. The captain of the yacht searched vainly for them today.

It is understood that the American consul has told the yacht captain that he will not give him clearance papers unless he had a written statement that Miss Porter is on board the yacht when it sails and that she will be returned to the United States.

22 GANGSTER SUSPECTS SEIZED IN CLEVELAND

Alleged Racketeers Believed To Be Allies of "Scarface Al" Capone.

Cleveland, December 5.—(AP)—The motive for the gathering here of more than a score of alleged gangsters believed by police to be allies of the Chicago gang boss by "Scarface Al" Capone, was sought tonight as police questioned 22 men taken in a raid on a fashionable downtown hotel today.

Twenty-three men were arrested when more than 50 detectives surprised them in a dozen luxurious rooms. However, one of them, Joseph "Trim" 45, of Brooklyn, was released when he showed a permit to carry weapons. Eighteen of those taken possessed revolvers, and their rooms contained a large quantity of ammunition.

George J. Matowitz, police inspector, said he believed the gangsters had fled Chicago because John A. Swanson, newly-elected prosecutor, headed a new law enforcement regime which took office there a few days ago. Additional strength to this theory came from information that the raid had been staged after Cleveland police had been advised by Chicago authorities that Capone's gang would assemble here.

Chicago authorities, however, denied that the men were wanted there. The only names known to Chicago police as they were given here were of "hoodlums" and a "bunch of cheap huns," not gangsters, Captain John Stege, of the Chicago detective bureau, said. He also denied that his headquarters had given any tip to Cleveland police.

Edwin D. Barry, safety director, said they might be members of a gang which police had been told would meet here and then go on to Baltimore for an unknown purpose.

One of the men themselves said they had been on a liquor-buying expedition into Canada and had come here for a "vacation."

Plans Are Made To Light Trees In College Park

BY ELMO HAMBY.

Plans for the community Christmas tree at College Park were made Wednesday by the College Park Women's club in line with the "Light the Living Trees" movement instituted by the Campfire Girls.

Under the direction of Mrs. Florence Gibson Bateman, the College Park chorus augmented by the men singers of the town and by the Young People's Service League of St. John's Episcopal church, will sing Christmas carols at the lighting of the community tree at 8 o'clock Christmas Eve. After singing at the tree, the carollers will sing before every College Park home which has a lighted candle in the window, it was announced.

Plans for the program were announced by Mrs. Katherine Weathersbee, chairman of the club's community Christmas tree committee. Mrs. Weathersbee said that a resolution pledging support of each member of the woman's club to the Light the Living Christmas Trees movement during the coming holiday season, thereby encouraging the cutting of trees for Christmas use, was adopted at Wednesday's meeting.

Mrs. Weathersbee announced that the following College Park women have promised to arrange for the lighting of living trees in front of their homes: Mrs. E. B. Fox, Mrs. J. C. Mason, Mrs. Willard See, Mrs. J. W. Stevens, Mrs. Charles Center, Mrs. W. E. Lotzpeich, Mrs. E. D. Barrett, Mrs. Alfred Drake, Mrs. L. M. Hugie, Mrs. W. E. Sifton, Mrs. Eva Thornton, Mrs. E. W. RAGSDALE APPEALS FOR INFORMATION OF JOHN REYNOLDS

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale late Wednesday began another mission of mercy—this time a search for a missing brother and son, John Leonard Reynolds.

A letter from Mrs. Fred Brokaw, of Lakewood, N. J., disclosed the tragic story of how an 85-year-old mother anxiously yearns to see her son, who disappeared here in 1918 and who has not been heard from since.

At that time he lived at 180 South Forsyth street. He now is 53 years old.

The mother, through Mrs. Brokaw, a sister of the missing man, issued an appeal for any information which might bring the son to his mother's bedside. She is confined to her room on account of her advanced age and her one desire is to hold her boy again in her arms before she begins the journey into the Great Beyond.

The mayor has asked Chief of Police James L. Beavers to assist in finding Reynolds.

Stop a Cold at the start —with VAPEX

Discovered in England during the war while the influenza epidemic was raging

MORE than 150,000 Americans died last year from diseases that started as common colds. Much of this great loss of life—and the untold sufferings of thousands besides—might have been done away with if these people had only treated their colds properly at the outset, or better still, if they had taken proper precautionary measures.

Vapex gives instant relief, is easy and pleasant to use and is scientifically sound in principle. It can be used without discomfort—any time, any place. Merely through carelessness and neglect many of us do not heed a cold's first warning. That is the time for Vapex. It arrests a cold's progress, and may save days or months of serious suffering.

One drop of Vapex on your handkerchief will hold its strength for a whole day. Inhale the vapor frequently—relief is immediate. Congestion breaks up. It reaches even the innermost passages of the throat and nose. As a preventive, Vapex keeps the head clear, prevents infection and is decidedly refreshing.

Vapex was discovered by chance during the war. While the disastrous influenza epidemic was raging in England, government workers in one of the great Kerfoot laboratories were immune to this and kindred diseases. The materials with which they had been working were tested under the supervision of physicians and government officials. It was discovered that the vapor from this material killed cold germs. Vapex—the new discovery—was put on sale throughout England and met with immediate and widespread success.

Druggists in America now have Vapex. Buy Vapex in the little square bottle and the package with the green triangle. Each dollar bottle holds fifty treatments. Distributed and guaranteed by E. Fougere & Co., Inc., New York City.

LAWYER SENTENCED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

George H. Gillon Must Serve
Two and a Half to Four Year Term.

A plea of guilty to an indictment charging embezzlement of $53,450 from the estate of the late Woodson H. Hudson Monday brought George H. Gillon, attorney, a term of from two and a half to four years at the state prison farm.

Gillon, who was named executor of the Hudson estate without bond, made a dramatic appearance in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's division of Fulton superior court. The defendant blamed his alleged shortage upon loans to a woman friend on security he claimed to have later found worthless.

Many of Gillon's lawyer friends were in the courtroom when the attorney pleaded guilty. Frank A. Hooper, Sr., acted as spokesman for Gillon's friends, asking leniency. He said he was satisfied that Gillon was innocent of intent to do wrong but was the victim of bad investments.

Discovery of Gillon's alleged shortage came last Saturday when the lawyer turned over $27,000 to John H. Hudson, of Ardmore, Pa., one of the legatees of the estate, as the sole remaining portion of the estate. Gillon then surrendered to the sheriff.

Encouraging Progress Made In Chest Drive for $480,000

With a resolution inspired by the human need of the work, the campaign organization of the Atlanta Community Chest Wednesday pledged its efforts to raise the entire sum of $480,000 declared necessary as a minimum to fulfill the city's obligations of helpfulness and social service in 1929, and reported encouraging progress.

Substantial responses by mail to the appeal for contributions was reported at Community Chest headquarters by Frank Miller, who repeated the request that those who have not been visited by canvassers, yet who are alive to the value of the work of constructive philanthropy of the 39 Chest societies, send their contributions to the Community Chest offices in the Candler annex.

Intent on reaching the more than 4,000 contributors to the Community Chest program last year who have not pledged their support this year, campaign workers were in the field Wednesday. In this phase of the follow-up campaign, the individual, commercial, out-of-town corporations, industrial, utility, public employee, and were discussed at a conference held Wednesday in the office of M. S. Yeomans, state entomologist.

It was stated at the conference that the United States government bureau will hold an open hearing in Washington on December 17 to hear testimony in the case. If the quarantine is declared it will mean that peach nursery stock cannot be shipped out of Georgia until the ban is lifted.

The quarantine as proposed does not affect the shipment of peaches, as the disease cannot be spread through the sale of the peaches but only through the distribution of the nursery stock.

PAROLE IS SOUGHT FOR MAJOR COART, M'NIECE'S SLAYER

The state prison commission Wednesday afternoon took under advisement a petition for a parole for Major A. H. Coart, convicted in Talbot county on a charge of killing A. B. McNiece, and now serving a life sentence in the state prison.

Major Coart was convicted after one of the most sensational murder trials ever held in the state was concluded at Talbotton. Attorneys entered a plea of the "unwritten law."

McNiece was superintendent of schools of Talbot county while Coart was an officer in the United States army. Several prominent citizens of Talbot and Sumter county appeared before the commission Wednesday afternoon and urged that a parole be granted Coart, who has served five years of his sentence.

GEORGIA MEETING ON SOCIAL WORK IS SET FOR FEB. 18

The Georgia state conference on social work will be held in Savannah, February 18, and several social workers of nationwide prominence will appear on the program, it was announced Wednesday by Mrs. Elabel McL. Davidson, of Atlanta, secretary of the organization.

This conference is an annual meeting to which social workers from all over Georgia, as well as citizens interested in the social problems of the state, come for an exchange of experiences and discussion. County welfare workers, juvenile judges, probation officers, school attendance officers, workers from the state department of welfare and from such agencies as the Georgia Children's Home society, the Red Cross, Anti-Tuberculosis association and the chairman of welfare from the American Legion, the congress of parents and teachers, women's clubs and men's civic clubs are those vitally concerned. "How have we met the needs of the poverty-stricken, the orphan, the feeble-minded, the insane, the delinquent of our state, and how can we improve the methods employed that these people may become useful citizens?" are the questions around which these discussions center.

assignment his experience had been received wholly in Atlanta.

His experience has been completely in the Publix family, extending from that time several years ago, when he, in company with Virgil "Doc" Watkins, now manager of the Rialto, in Atlanta, broke into the game at the old Lyric theater as ushers.

Operated then by the Southern Enterprise, the Lyric was torn down when that company was merged with Publix and Mr. Chalman was transferred to the Howard as chief of the service staff.

While Gus Grist, now member of the New York advertising department of Publix, was publicity chief at the Howard, Mr. Chalman assumed the duties of assistant, and with the promotion of Mr. Grist, the Howard post was filled by his assistant.

Jack has hundreds of friends in Atlanta who, while regretting the transfer which takes him from Atlanta, nevertheless, welcome that which takes him to Houston and a better position in a larger theater.

Catarrh Is Terrible Drain on Vitality

Find the man, woman or child who is afflicted with chronic catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious diseases. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing thus preventing proper oxygenation and purification of the blood by the lungs and also absolutely prevents restful, refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to all germ infections such as colds, flu, pneumonia, etc.

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Of the many remedies that have been tested for the relief of catarrh, none has given such uniformly successful results to the physician or attained such popular favor as the prescription of Dr. Runion, known to your druggist as Runion's White Wonder Salve. Applied in the nostrils, morning and night, "White Wonder" gives quick and most delightful relief. Clean, greaseless and absolutely stainless, White Wonder is a perfect example of the finest of the pharmaceutical art—a joy and comfort to everyone who suffers with nasal catarrh. Ask your druggist for WHITE WONDER today or mail thirty-five cents for a family jar, postpaid. White Wonder Chemical Company, 52 Greil Bldg., Montgomery, Ala. STORE ON PEACHTREE LEASED FOR $400,000

C. J. Kamper Grocery Company Rents Property for Twenty Years.

Lease of the two-story building at Peachtree and Linden streets for a term of 20 years at an aggregate rental of approximately $400,000, renewing the present lease held by the C. J. Kamper Grocery company, was announced Wednesday by F. E. Kamper, president of the prominent grocery concern, and Jack Chambers, of Keenan & Chambers, Inc., realty agents handling the deal.

The lease was made for Mrs. Mary W. Potts, owner of the valuable tract, and represents one of the most important renewals of the year. The property has a frontage of 100 feet on Peachtree and extends back 224 feet along Linden street. The building proper, which consists of two stories over a basement, occupies a site 100 x 100 feet, the strip in rear of the building on Linden street being devoted to loading space for the company's trucks.

The large rental figure involved in the lease is said to be based on the rapid enhancement of property values in this section of Peachtree street. The property is only a short distance from the Erlanger theater and the new Shrine mosque, which will house the new Fox theater.

The Kamper Grocery company has been an important factor in enhancement of the property values of the area. It has occupied the present site since May, 1914, and is one of the largest institutions of its kind in the southeast. Its business has expanded until it now operates a number of branch stores and its own baking plant in addition to the main store. C. J. Kamper, who is now chairman of the board, is one of the pioneer grocers of Atlanta. F. E. Kamper was formerly president of the National Association of Retail Grocers.

The transaction represents one of a series of large commercial leases recently made through the agency of Keenan & Chambers.

Expansion of Air Passenger Service Planned by Companies Operating Here

Three machines of the type shown above have been ordered by Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., for use in the first link of its passenger service, which will operate between Atlanta and Greensboro, ultimately to be extended between New York, Atlanta and Miami. The ship is a Ford all-metal tri-motor 12-passenger cabin monoplane, and the one shown here has just landed at the Pitcairn field outside of Philadelphia. Officials of the aviation company are shown receiving representatives of the Ford Motor company to present them with the order for the three duplicate Atlanta planes, which are expected to be delivered next spring.

Expansion of airplane services radiating from Atlanta, particularly in passenger accommodations, with still further extensions scheduled for the future, features developments now in progress of the city's newest industry. Programs of the three companies operating air lines out of this city call for the addition of several new planes by each of the organizations, for which already have been placed with large plane manufacturers, according to announcements Wednesday by company officials here.

Orders have been placed by Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., for three Ford 12-passenger all-metal tri-motor monoplanes for delivery as soon as completed. These bi-ships will be used to establish the first link in a passenger service that ultimately will cover the Pitcairn route between New York, Atlanta and Miami. The first unit of the route will be from Atlanta to Greensboro, N. C. The three planes, as soon as they are completed, will be brought here for this service, which is expected to be inaugurated early in the spring.

Six Passenger Planes.

Interstate Airlines, Inc., which has just inaugurated its service between Chicago and Atlanta, is operating six passenger planes, two of which are devoted to the Atlanta-Evansville link. The planes are seven-passenger Fairchild monoplanes equipped with "Wasp" motors. They are of the cabin type and contain compartments for baggage.

More planes now are under order by the Interstate Airlines to supplement the Atlanta service. The points included in the main and branch lines are Atlanta, Evansville, Chicago, St. Louis and Louisville. Connections are made at these points with other lines. The Interstate is a factor of the recently merged air lines forming the United Aviation corporation, a $20,000,000 holding company, it was pointed out by local representatives in announcing expansion plans.

Three in Actual Service.

Three planes in actual service, with three held for reserve, add to Atlanta's air mail and passenger service facilities maintained by the St. Tammany and Gulf Coast Airways, which operates between Atlanta, Birmingham and New Orleans. Five passenger planes are used by this line between Atlanta and Birmingham, while mail planes carrying one passenger are used between Atlanta and New Orleans.

Plans for extension of the territory covered by the St. Tammany and Gulf Coast Airways included purchase of a number of new planes in the near future, it was reported Wednesday.

Pitcairn Operates Sixteen.

Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., now operates 16 planes on its two air mail contracts between Atlanta and New York and Atlanta and Miami. Ten airplanes are maintained for the New York contract, three of which are reserve planes, while six planes, two of which are reserves, are utilized on the Atlanta-Miami route. These planes will continue on night schedules while passenger service is inaugurated, it was said.

The passenger planes will operate on a daytime schedule. The three planes for which orders have been placed will be equipped with cabin accommodations for 12 passengers and room for baggage, seats for two pilots carrying radio telephones that will enable them to communicate with the flying fields every minute while in flight. Other planes of this type will be added with extension of the passenger service.

BLEASE BILL ASKS
QUIZ IN LAND BANK
AT COLUMBIA, S. C.

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—A resolution calling upon Secretary Mellon to report on conditions in the Federal Land bank at Columbia, S. C., by next February 1, was offered today by Senator Blease, democrat, South Carolina.

Senator Blease declared in the senate that if his resolution of last session asking a senate investigation of the bank had been adopted it would have saved the "loss of millions." He said that one officer of the bank had committed suicide and "another attempted it, but someone was foolish enough to stop him and seven officers are now under indictment."

London, December 5.—(AP)—The German steamship Carba today reported rescuing the crew of the British tanker Brash Courage, which was afire in the eastern Mediterranean.

Lloyds dispatches from Alexandria, Egypt, telling of the rescue said that the British seamen were picked up from life-boats. Previously the British Courage had sent out a wireless message stating that she was afire and that the ship would be abandoned shortly.

MILITIA QUELLS STRIKE WORKERS IN BANANA ZONE

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—Lawrence F. Cotte, American vice consul at Santa Marta, Colombia, in a dispatch to the state department has reported that striking laborers in the banana zone attempted on December 3 to prevent workmen from returning to work and that the military forces had intervened.

He said reports of actual encounters between troops and strikers and also of a menacing attitude on the part of the strikers were reaching him.

A dispatch dated yesterday said that the strike situation was becoming grave and that the government of the department of Magdalena was requesting that the government of Colombia declare martial law in the district affected by the strike.

the county take steps to appropriate $18,000 promised the advertising fund in 1928 for the 1927 work. The advertising campaign's advantages were pointed out to the commission, Mr. West showing that an annual pay roll of $22,000,000 has been added by the campaign of printer's ink. The county commission promised to try and get the money by March 1 so that it can be included in the 1929 budget, although at the same time pointing out the extremely difficult financial situation facing the county.

The commission voted to adopt Ferguson road as the name of the thoroughfare from Sylvan road to Stewart avenue which couples up with Langston avenue, and to widen, grade and pave the road as soon as possible. Residents along the road pointed out that it is known by four different names, giving rise to confusion.

A delegation appeared before the commission to request the widening, grading and paving of Williams street but no action was taken in the matter by the commission.

The invitation of Steve R. Johnson, superintendent of Grady hospital, for a dinner in the near future was accepted. The commission decided to close the courthouse at noon on Christmas Eve day, and all day on Christmas day. The commission also decided to make a small appropriation to the Confederate Soldiers' Home for a Christmas fund.

C. B. BROWN SPEAKS AT CHAMBER TODAY

100 Business Leaders To Hear Commercial Organization Expert.

Acceptances received by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce up to Wednesday night indicate that more than 100 business men will attend the service committee luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today, and hear an address on "The Business Man and His City," by Colvin B. Brown, of Washington.

Mr. Brown is manager of the commercial organization department of the United States Chamber of Commerce; the national body of which the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is a member. He is considered a foremost authority on commercial organizations and their work, and as he spends most of his time in traveling from city to city in this work, he has accumulated a great deal of experience in the problems of civic bodies and methods of working them out.

"Chambers of commerce are becoming more and more practical in their methods and are accomplishing far more to build up industry and commerce in their cities," said Mr. Brown, in a letter outlining the address he will deliver here. "Cities are entertaining the competitive industrial field. They are going out after new industries, competing just as business firms compete. The chamber of commerce is becoming recognized as much as the postoffice and the railway station. It is an integral part of community life."

"Business is confronting new problems every day as our commercial life grows more complex. Chambers of commerce throughout the country are making a study of such problems and assisting in solving them."

Mr. Brown's address will be delivered in the assembly hall of the chamber of commerce building. Reservations may be made by telephoning the offices of the chamber.

GOLD IS PLENTIFUL IN SOUTH, FIELDS MANAGER LEARNS

There's no scarcity of gold in the south.

A. Harry Goldstein, general manager of the Fields Clothing corporation, which today opens its new Atlanta store at 35 Peachtree street, is authority for that statement.

"The Fields organization, in opening its store here, will follow a unique policy of presenting to every purchaser of a suit, overcoat or topcoat with a two-dollar-and-a-half gold piece," Mr. Goldstein explained. "As a consequence, I called on an Atlanta bank a few days ago to arrange for a supply of gold pieces. The bank immediately assembled a good number of them, but not enough to meet our demand."

"I wired our office in New York asking for more from that city, and was surprised to be informed that the banks there could not supply any, due doubtless to the heavy holiday demand. So I got busy and asked several other southern banks to help, and got all the gold I needed."

This fact, together with others based on personal observation, have led Mr. Goldstein to the conclusion that there's plenty of money in the south and that it's a splendid section in which to do business.

TOOMBS, 4 OTHERS ARE INDICTED BY U. S. GRAND JURY

Chicago, December 5.—(AP)—Roy C. Toombs and four fellow-employees of the defunct brokerage house of Toombs & Daily were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of using the mails in a scheme to defraud. They were accused of issuing false financial statements, exaggerating the assets and understating the liabilities of the concern.

Named with Toombs, who also formerly headed the International Life Insurance Company of St. Louis, were O. R. Daily, vice president and treasurer of the brokerage house; Claude E. Clark, vice president; Richard R. Daily, secretary; and George E. Kidd, an accountant. Bonds of $10,000 were set by the grand jury for the four officers, and Kidd's was fixed at $5,000.

HONDURAS STORMS SUBSIDE; LOSS PUT AT ABOUT $2,000,000

Several sailors were drowned when a small schooner was wrecked.

Old Sores and Ulcers Can Be Healed!

"This sincere letter," says Peterson, "gave me another happy day and as nearly every mail brings praise for Peterson's Ointment, it is a wonder that I keep cheerful all the time!" "Dear Sir: I had a bad leg for 20 years, tried everything but no benefit. I tried Peterson's Ointment and five 35-cent boxes healed my leg. I can never praise it enough. Baptists in Session Plan Fund Increase for State Educational Institutions

Church Schools in Georgia Given Attention; $2,000,000 Endowment Asked for Mercer.

BY B. P. CAMPBELL, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Thomasville, Ga., December 3.—(AP) The Georgia Baptist convention today faced the question of providing materially increased funds for its educational institutions throughout the state. Through a rearrangement of a scheduled program, it planned to take under consideration this morning, the report of the endowment committee recommending that a $2,000,000 endowment fund be raised for Mercer university and that the convention issue $1,500,000 in the debentures to provide for the needs of the church's schools throughout the state.

This report was adopted by the executive committee yesterday. The convention also planned to focus much of its attention today upon the work accomplished during the past year, which was designated as "jubilee year" in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the Georgia Home Mission board. The report of the "jubilee committee" was ready for submission to the messengers at the morning session.

The convention officers for the coming year were elected at the first regular business session of the three-day gathering last night. Dr. John D. Mell, Athens, was re-elected to serve his seventeenth consecutive term as president. Dr. B. D. Ragdale, Macon, was chosen secretary for the thirty-fourth successive year.

E. J. Forrester, Sparta, was elected treasurer. Vice presidents were elected as follows: The Rev. J. C. Wilkinson, Athens; H. H. Wilson, Savannah; the Rev. W. T. Binn, LaGrange; and Hugh Caruthers, Windsor. The executive committee's report was adopted with amendments at the committee's meeting yesterday. This report included financial statements of all Georgia Baptist activities during the past year. Special mention was made of the alleged defalcations of Clinton S. Carnes, former treasurer of the denomination's home mission board. He now faces several indictments charging embezzlement of the board's funds. Baptist "honorary day," on which the Baptists of the south were asked to make good the alleged $953,000 defalcation, was termed "a great success."

The report states that latest figures on the contributions on "honorary day" show that approximately $300,000 was raised.

The report shows that during the past year $118,230.47 was paid out by the ministerial and annuity board of the Southern Baptist convention. This sum was paid to 523 indigent ministers, 448 widows, and 140 minor children. It was pointed out that total contributions to Baptist work of all types in the state amounted to $511,048.73, the report shows, which was said to be an increase of $60,358.90 over the total contributions for the preceding year.

The executive committee report also contained a number of recommendations which will be submitted to the convention separately. These deal mainly with matters concerning the budget for the coming year and means of raising funds.

Georgia Baptist educational institutions which will benefit if the convention adopts the recommendations of the endowment committee include Mercer university, Bessie Tift college, Shorter college, Brewton Parker institute, and Norman Junior college.

The drive for a $2,000,000 endowment fund for Mercer would be started "as soon as possible in 1929" and would be concluded only when this goal had been attained.

Allocation of the $1,500,000 in debentures to be issued would be as follows: Mercer, $672,000; Bessie Tift, $420,000; Shorter college, $150,000; Brewton Parker institute, $170,000; Norman Junior college, $142,000. The debentures will bear interest at the rate of five per cent. This interest would be guaranteed by the convention.

Complete plans for insuring the raising of the funds to pay interest on the debentures were contained in the recommendations of the endowment committee. There would be no effort made to sell the major portion of the bonds, but they would be retired gradually by the convention.

The urgent need of adequate financing for all the Baptist educational institutions in the state was presented by various members of the committee in presenting the recommendations for endowing the schools.

The first business session of the convention closed with the delivery of the convention sermon by Dr. Arch C. Cree, of Atlanta.

Ben Johnson, Shreveport, La., banker; E. J. Forrester, of Sparta, and Dr. Spright Dowell, president of Mercer, were scheduled to deliver talks at the afternoon session today.

Baptist students from the University of Georgia today presented a petition to the convention asking that G. B. Nickelson be appointed full time secretary in charge of Baptist young people's work at the university. Mr. Nickelson at present divides his time between work at Georgia university and other educational institutions throughout the state.

The convention referred the petition to the executive committee with the recommendation that the request be granted if the means to do so could be worked out.

John R. Samper, of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, Louisville, Ky., in an address before the convention outlined the work which he had done during his evangelistic trip to Brazil this year. He told the messengers of the enthusiasm which he had encountered on the part of Brazilians in all parts of that nation, and especially commended the Baptist colleges in Brazil. These, he said, were the best institutions of higher education in the nation, and were attended by the children of many Brazilian leaders.

On the speaker's program with President Dowell were Ben Johnson, banker, of Shreveport, La., and E. J. Forrester, of Sparta. Mr. Johnson spoke on "Money and the Kingdom," while Mr. Forrester's subject was "Unifying Forces in Our Cooperative Work."

Leaders of the convention spoke enthusiastically of the unusually large attendance of laymen at the present gathering, not only are the laymen here in unusual numbers, but they have assumed a far more active part in the convention program than is usually the case, it was said.

Dr. George W. Truett, president of the Southern Baptist convention, addressed the convention at the night session.

JOURNALISTIC FRAT TO CONVENE TODAY

Senator George Will Make Address at Banquet Saturday Night.

With more than 100 delegates representing chapters in 54 schools throughout the United States the national convention of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity, will meet in Atlanta today. The sessions will continue through Friday and Saturday and will close with a banquet at the Georgian Terrace hotel Saturday night.

With the Georgia Tech and Emory chapters acting as hosts an elaborate program has been planned for the visiting delegates. A speech by Senator Walter F. George at the Saturday night banquet will be one of the highlights of the meeting.

Other features of the convention will be an old fashioned barbeque to be held at Stone Mountain; a luncheon to be given in honor of Ed Ham, Grandland Rice and other sports writers and athletes. The delegates will attend the Georgia-Georgia Tech football game and various other entertainments.

Attending the convention will be H. E. Lohell, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the grand secretary of the fraternity; Robert McNeil, of V. P. I., the grand editor, and Joseph C. Patti, grand treasurer.

NORMAN TRIAL OPENS

Testimony To Begin This Morning in Fulton Superior.

Opening statements in the trial of T. J. Norman, former vice president of the Colonial Trust company, were disposed of yesterday following the drawing of a jury for Norman's hearing on charges of fraudulent bank insolvency. Testimony will begin this morning before Judge Virlyn B. Moore in Fulton superior court. It is expected that the case will consume at least two weeks.

A demurrer filed by counsel for Norman at the opening of court Wednesday was overruled by Judge Moore. The demurrer alleged that the section of the banking act under which Norman was indicted is vague and indefinite, and that the act is unenforceable.

Sam Slicer, former president of the company, who was convicted on a charge of fraudulent insolvency, has appealed to the state supreme court for a new trial.

DOCTOR TO TAKE STAND IN DEFENSE IN NURSE'S DEATH

Keyser, West Va., December 3.—(AP)—Dr. Otto Fisher, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, on trial here on charges of performing an illegal operation in connection with the death of Miss Lonnie Beckone, a nurse, will testify in his own defense tomorrow, his counsel announced tonight.

The state rested its case today against the former Harrisonburg, Va., doctor after introducing medical testimony to the effect that the operation had been performed. The girl was found dead in Fisher's office last September 12.

The physicians who performed the autopsy agreed preliminarily to the operation could have been performed before the girl came here. The defense claims the operation was performed to save the patient's life.

FEDERALS NAB 15 MEN ON SMUGGLING CHARGE

U. S. Agents Claim 20,000 Quarts of Liquor Flowed Into Country.

Savannah, Ga., December 3.—(AP) Charges of smuggling approximately 20,000 quarts of liquor into Florida and Georgia counties contiguous to the state line Wednesday confronted 15 men, whose trials were on call in federal district court.

The government began its investigation on September 3, last, when 283 cases of liquor were seized on the Ogeechee road near Savannah. Vigorous investigation since has disclosed what the government contends was a well ramified smuggling ring in operation since January, 1922.

The men who faced trial today included G. C. Curtis, Richard A. Bailey, Robert Williams, Lee Grant McArthur, Chesley C. Tuten, Charlie Williams, Bee Hyer, Larrie Harrison, Elzie Leggett, Tom Williams, W. B. Tingley, B. E. Windham and Robert Walton, of Savannah, and M. D. Morgan, of Bryan county, and C. V. Theft of a violin from J. F. Mitchell, of the National Oil company, brought Richard Mulkey a sentence of 12 months, the defendant entering a plea of guilty. Judge Moore set a $500 fine as an alternative sentence.

Monroe Williams, charged with burglary in the theft of clothing from Bob Wood, of 721 Angier avenue, N. E., pleaded guilty and received a sentence of from three to five years.

He didn't heed cold weather warning now he's paying off this bill

HE noticed in the papers the forecast of a cold wave. He even felt the chill in the air. But he was too tired to fuss about getting some anti-freeze for his radiator. He decided to put the car up (the garage was unheated) and take a chance. "The weather man is liable to be off anyway!"

He guessed wrong. The next morning his motor was a solid chunk of ice. The radiator had given way and burst. There was a crack the size of your finger in the cylinder block. His repair bill amounted to just one hundred twenty-five dollars. That case (an actual one) is typical.

Don't run the needless risk of ruining an expensive motor by gambling with cold weather. Have your dealer put in Denatured Alcohol today.

Why DENATURED ALCOHOL is best

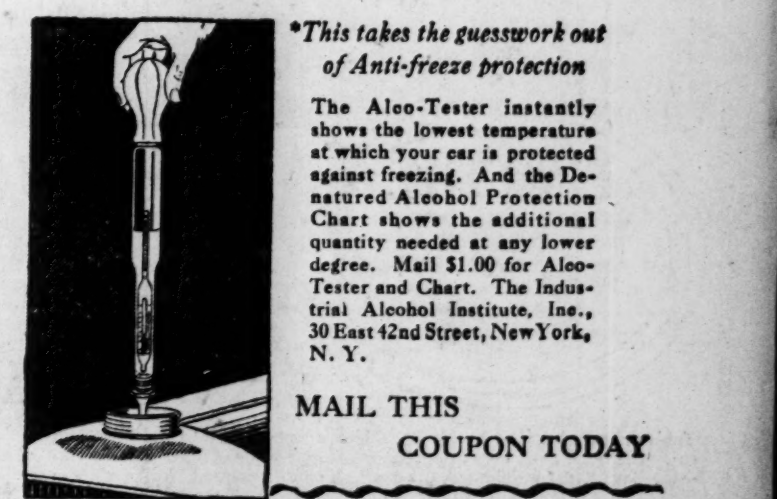

There are many anti-freeze preparations on the market. Perhaps you are in doubt as to which is best. Here are the facts.

Without exception every manufacturer of water-cooled cars in the country approves the use of Denatured Alcohol to prevent freezing. More than half of them approve it exclusively. The world's largest automobile radiator manufacturers also approve the use of Denatured Alcohol.

Why experiment with other anti-freeze preparations which far too often fail to give protection or damage the cooling system of a motor.

Denatured Alcohol is the simplest to use, the safest for your motor, the most economical. It is the choice of a vast majority of the country's car owners and has been for many years.

Play safe by always using Denatured Alcohol.

ROOSEVELT PLANS HUGE DEMOCRATIC MACHINE

General Reorganization Will Effect Entire Country; Program Not Complete.

Warm Springs, Ga., December 5.—(AP)—An active democratic machine designed to function 12 months of each year in every county of the state, is in the office for New York, Governor-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, and State Democratic Chairman M. William Bray said here today.

The initial move is planned for January 2, they said, when the state committee, the county chairmen, national committeemen and committee women and United States senators and representatives will meet in Albany to hear a tentative program for building up the organization. Just what new features that program will contain has not been decided, Mr. Bray said. He made it clear, however, that he considered it necessary that county chairmen be given more responsibility than in the past, and that their organizations function continuously.

"At the present we have no plans beyond the Albany meeting," he said. "We are going to organize from election district captains to the chairman of the committee, however, and build a real organization."

Mr. Roosevelt, who last week endorsed establishment of young men's and young women's democratic leagues throughout the county, announced the January meeting. It would be a general "get-together," he said, to be followed by a good fellowship banquet.

The announcement followed a session between the governor-elect and New York state leaders so prolonged that the visitors missed a train to Atlanta, their first stop of the homeward journey. Senator Bernard Dowling, Assemblyman Maurice Bloch, Mr. Bray and Samuel I. Rosenman, of the bill drafting department, attended the conference. They had announced earlier in the day that they would leave tonight, and had sent part of their baggage to the station, but train time passed with them still seated before the fireside in Mr. Roosevelt's cottage.

No intimation was given as to what today's prolonged discussion was based upon. Mr. Roosevelt laughed when asked if it had been in connection with appointments, but admitted existing vacancies had been discussed "during the stay of the leaders here."

His forthcoming message to the legislature has not been discussed, he said, nor has he "put a pen to the paper" on it. He said, however, that he had his message "well in mind."

If the state leaders leave tomorrow, as they now plan, it will still be a day sooner than considered when they arrived last Saturday night. All have appointments in New York about December 10, however, and said their reason for leaving earlier was merely because they had discussed state matters at hand satisfactorily.

Mr. Roosevelt today completed arrangements for his own departure next Monday afternoon. He, with his secretaries and newspapermen, will leave by special car, expecting to arrive in New York at 8:50 o'clock Tuesday night. He has considerable business to wind up here before leaving.

Today the governor-elect had as a caller, Andrew Erwin, of Athens, Ga., who was a delegate to the 1924 and 1928 democratic convention. He also discussed the raising of beef cattle with District Agent Bennett, of the Georgia department of agriculture.

$2,236.51 VERDICT IS FOUND AGAINST MRS. W. D. MANLEY

A verdict for $2,236.51 principal and $365.50 interest, was returned Wednesday by a jury in Fulton superior court in favor of Chamberlain-Johnson-DuBose company, and against Mrs. W. D. Manley, wife of the president of the Bankers' Trust company. The money was alleged to be due the company on Mrs. Manley's account.

Decatur, Ga., December 5.—(Special.)—Motorists who are convicted in DeKalb county of reckless driving and driving while drunk in the future may lose the right to drive in the county if recommendations made by grand jury to Judge John B. Hutcheson Wednesday are carried out.

GOVERNMENT "AID" TO BUSINESS IS HIT BY JUDGE WATKINS

Memphis, December 5.—(AP)—The best aid that the government could give business would be to let it alone, Judge Edgar Watkins, of Atlanta, said in an address today at the closing session of the National and Southern Builders' Supply association convention.

"You can help yourself more than any government can help you," he said. "What you need most is the intelligent application to your respective businesses of fair and efficient methods unrestrained and unregulated by government."

"The government may advise, but should not enact laws fixing general methods of doing business. Business should regulate itself. Not only should this be true of particular divisions of business, but business should be treated as a whole and so cooperate as to promote methods fair in principle and efficient in operation, as such methods may be agreed on by business itself."

Judge Watkins recommended that the association draw up a code of ethics and have them approved by the federal trade commission.

FLORIDA SENATORS URGE U. S. TO AID DEVASTATED AREA

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—A first hand picture of the devastation wrought by the last Florida hurricane was given the senate today by the two senators from that state who urged the federal government to help in bearing the cost of proposed levee work for the Lake Okechobee area.

The two senators, Fletcher and Trammell, brought up the question after Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, had offered a resolution proposing the advancement of about $17,000,000 in loans to assist Porto Rico in rehabilitating itself from the same storm.

A twelve-foot levee around the lake, Senator Fletcher declared, would prevent recurrence of the flood which swept over the rich farm district of Florida with the hurricane. He asked the federal government to share half the cost of the levee with the state, insisting the people of the stricken area were not in a position to finance the proposition.

DALTON YOUTH, 19, DIES IN ATTEMPT TO STEAL AUTO

Dalton, Ga., December 5.—(Special.)—Bob Birchfield, 19 years old, of Dalton, died early Wednesday morning from a gunshot wound said to have been accidentally self-inflicted by a charge from a sawed off shotgun, just north of here.

The tragedy was the culmination of an alleged attempt to steal an automobile belonging to T. A. Hopper, of Dalton.

Bob Higgins, said to have been an accomplice in the attempt, is being held here. Higgins declines to talk, other than to state that Birchfield shot himself accidentally while they were attempting to escape in the stolen car.

Lula Burns, who was seen with Birchfield and Higgins just a short time before the shooting, is being held as a material witness at a hearing, which is set for Thursday.

It is stated that Higgins and Birchfield were both drinking. The car was found, undamaged, and returned to the owner.

ITALIAN PAPER HITS N. Y. PLAY APPEARING IN ROME

Rome, December 5.—(AP)—The Osservatore Romano, the newspaper through which the vatican makes its public announcements, castigated the American play "Broadway" in a column article today. The play is now running in a local theater.

"Why is there not censorship for the legitimate theater as well as for the movies?" asked the newspaper. "Our theater seems to be undergoing a crisis. But should we depend upon America to rush to our aid with its 'Broadways'?"

NOVEMBER POSTAL RECEIPTS FOR CITY SHOW $17,000 LOSS

In spite of the fact that postoffice receipts for last month showed a loss over the same month for 1927, receipts for the first 11 months of 1928 are slightly in advance of those for the same period last year, according to figures made public Wednesday by Postmaster E. K. Large.

November receipts totaled $364,118.36 as compared with $381,931.12 for the same month in 1928, a loss of more than $17,000, but the total for the first 11 months this year was $4,051,753.33, or slightly more than the receipts for the same period last year, which were $4,050,929.38. Provided receipts for this month come up to those of last December, which totaled $459,500.47, the Atlanta office will show a gain over 1927.

SNELL SEES NO TIME FOR ACTION ON TARIFF

Chairman of House Rules Committee Discusses Program With Coolidge.

Washington, December 5.—(AP)—Chairman Snell of the house rules committee discussed the legislative program for this session with President Coolidge today and afterwards said he did not believe there would be time to effect a general tariff revision.

A determined effort would be made to pass a new congressional reapportionment bill, he said, one which would retain several features of the measure before the house last year. This would keep the membership of the house at its present figure of 435. Mr. Snell asserted, with the 1930 census the basis of representation. He also expressed the opinion that the Austrian and Greek debt settlements would be disposed of as requested by President Coolidge in his message to congress.

Mr. Snell predicted that if the agricultural committee should produce a farm relief measure conforming with the desires of the administration it would be passed with ease.

While holding that there will not be sufficient time for general tariff revision, Mr. Snell approved the decision of the ways and means committee to hold hearings on this subject next month. He opposed any individual tariff changes.

The rules chairman said he had congratulated the president on his message to congress, and declared it a modest view of the president's accomplishments. In this connection, he said it was unlikely that there would be time at this session of congress for amendments to the railroad laws as requested by Mr. Coolidge.

LINK DYNAMITE THEFT TO CAR BOMB SUSPECT

Brother and Nephew of Defendant Testify in Rockford, Ill., Slaying.

Rockford, Ill., December 5.—(AP)—A brother and nephew of Paul Reed, Rockford youth charged with the murder of Vernon Plager, also of Rockford, by attaching a bomb to the starter of Plager's automobile last July, testified today the defendant had stolen dynamite the day before the bombing.

Arthur Reed, Paul's older brother, testified Paul had visited his home "the first time in six months" the day before Plager was killed, seeking some dynamite.

Kenneth Reed, Vernon's son and Paul's nephew, told how he and his uncle had stolen three sticks of dynamite, some percussion caps and a length of fuse from county highway commission's stock that night.

Both Kenneth and Arthur Reed testified that Paul said he wanted the explosive to blast a spring in Wisconsin, where he was going to spend his vacation.

Two Chicago newspapermen, Michael Fielding and Robert W. Wood, told of finding two sticks of dynamite, some caps and fuse hidden in the basement of the rooming house where Paul Reed lived, several days after Plager's death.

Ben Good, highway commissioner, and Edward Ridberg, highway employee, testified the shack in question had been entered and dynamite, caps and fuse stolen.

Several former neighbors of the Plagers told of the alleged love affair between Mrs. Ivy Plager, the slain man's widow, and Paul Reed. The state contends Reed killed Plager because of his infatuation for Mrs. Plager.

Mrs. Plager and Reed at one time eloped and spent two weeks in Peoria, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa, but Plager forgave his wife when she returned, the state alleges.

Clinton Plager, Vernon's older brother, said the day before the explosion he and Vernon had inspected the automobile and that he was sure the explosive was not attached to the starter at that time.

ADJUSTMENT VITAL FOR LABOR, DAVIS STATES IN REPORT

Washington, December 5.—(United News.)—Adjustment of labor and labor-saving machinery is one of the greatest economic problems in the country today, Secretary of Labor Davis said in his annual report.

He noted that increased use of industrial machinery has caused a marked effect in increasing unemployment.

"The best thought of the country must be concentrated on this problem of adjustment," Davis said. "Use of machines in industry at first stimulated manufacturing and so increased employment. But continually increased use of great varieties of machines, caused by a demand for mass production, has had a marked effect in causing unemployment."

Autos Put Famous Train in Danger Of Being Abolished

Memphis, Tenn., December 5.—(AP) The Evening Appeal said today that the Southern railway was considering abolition of the Somerville accommodation train that for 71 years has been making daily trips between Somerville, Tenn., and Memphis.

For 42 years George G. Higgins has been conductor on the train, and "Mike" Brady its engineer for nearly as long. In honor of the veteran at the throttle, the train is known as "Mike."

Time was when "Mike" was four or five coaches long, both morning and night, but that was before automobiles and busses came along. Business began to fall off and the train finally was reduced to an engine, one passenger car and one combination baggage and passenger coach.

The conductor and engineer helped things along by soliciting business, but even with their efforts, the accommodation train has been operating at a loss.

CHECK PHILADELPHIA GAMBLING PALACES

Man in Prison Gives Officers Tip on Which To Proceed.

Philadelphia, December 5.—(AP)—A special grand jury which has been investigating bootlegging and police corruption today was under instructions from the court to ascertain how many gambling houses had been operating with police protection this year.

The order was given after Judge Edwin O. Lewis had heard testimony from Dr. Thomas ("English Tommy") Gilchrist, narcotic peddler and gambler, and Charles F. Toomey, defaulting bank official, who are serving prison terms.

Gilchrist named Max Mayer, mercantile appraiser and republican organization ward leader, as one of his nine partners in a gambling house which he said had netted its operators $300,000 in four years. He said that he had paid Mayer $1,000 a month for the privilege of running the place.

He asserted that he had paid $200 a day for police protection and named several officials to whom the money had been paid.

He also testified that he had heard that former Director of Public Safety George W. Elliott was a partner of a notorious gambler and bootlegger.

"Gilchrist, who previously had operated without molestation, was sent to jail by me," said Elliott. Edward Cook, another republican ward leader, and Richard Kaelker, a politician, were named by both Gilchrist and Toomey as proprietors of gambling establishments. In places conducted by these men, Toomey said, he lost most of the embezzled funds.

In the presentment made to Judge Lewis, based primarily on testimony given by Gilchrist in secret session, the grand jury declared that large gambling establishments had openly operated for years "with the connivance of police" and that men in public life and police officials had "participated in the loot, either as partners in gambling enterprises or in the tribute exacted from them."

Smithies Will Meet Strong Erie Lions at Spiller's Today

Tuskegees And Atlanta Set for Tilt

Alabama Eleven Arrives Today for Title Game; 10,000 Will Watch Battle.

Spiller's field Friday afternoon will be the scene of an annual classic second round to the Tech-Georgia classic, when the Cadets of Tuskegee institute meet the formidable machine of Atlanta university for the title of the Negro Southern Collegiate conference.

The Tuskegee aggregation entrains this morning for Atlanta and will arrive this afternoon. The mentor is bringing a squad of 35 men, team physician and two assistant coaches. A special train with more than five cars of rooters will also arrive sometime today.

Coach Aiken and his assistants, Walker and Gunn, put the finishing touches on the squad today.

Pierce, 200-pound guard for the Hurricane, who failed to see action in the Morris Brown and Atlanta games on account of injuries received at the beginning of the season, is in the pink of condition and will start at his position.

In McPherson, Atlanta has an all-American from last year, who always gives a good account of himself, and Wiggins, triple-threat star, who has been running wild all season, will have to be watched by that famous line of Tuskegee that was built by John Brown, of Union, one of the greatest line builders among his race. Red Jones, Blackburn, Maise and Edwards complete the A. U. backfield squad.

Big Jeff Lamar, who thus far this year has caused opposing backs plenty of trouble with his ability to get through the line of scrimmage and throw them for a loss, will also be one of the main attractions of the game.

Tuskegee's great backfield, composed of Stevenson, Shanklin, LaVern Smith and Woolridge, will be no easy mark for Atlanta university's forward wall. Atlanta is known for its great defensive team.

Tuskegee Band.
The 72-piece Tuskegee band, under the leadership of Captain Dye, will feature the occasion. This brass band made a great hit in Greensboro, N. C., and Philadelphia, where it paraded in the metropolitan district.

More than 10,000 are expected to witness this battle, which is held annually before the Georgia-Georgia Tech game. The vast throng that is in the city to witness the great classic of Saturday will have a chance to see two of the best colored teams in the country in competition.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the Five Points Soda company, Yates & Milton pharmacy on Auburn avenue, Atlanta Athletic club, Adams Drug store, Herndon's Barber shop, Aiken & Faulkner Realty company and the athletic department of Atlanta university.

Stars To Take Field

Some of the best negro football players in the country will be seen in action here Friday afternoon when Tuskegee, Ala., and Atlanta university clash at Spiller's field. From left to right on the top row are McPherson, halfback, Atlanta university, and all-American man last year; Ben Stevenson, halfback, Tuskegee; Shanklin, fullback, Tuskegee. Inset under Shanklin is Abbott, Tuskegee coach. Jeff Lamar, lower left, is right tackle for Atlanta and another all-American player in 1927. Stanley, quarterback for Atlanta, is shown at the right. The lower inset is picture of Assistant Coach Walker, of Atlanta.

Hawkins Named Captain at V.M.I.

Lexington, Va., December 5.—(AP)—Albert May Hawkins, of Norfolk, Va., quarterback of the Virginia Military Institute football team in the season just closed, was today elected captain of the Flying Squadron of 1929.

Hawkins is a product of Maury High school, of Norfolk, and has one year's experience on the cadet freshmen team and two years on the varsity as regular quarterback. He is 20 years old, and weighs 152 pounds.

Officials: Thompson (Georgia), referee; Phillips (Tech) umpire; Burgess (Auburn), head linesman.

Tech High's Smithies this afternoon at 2 o'clock on Spiller field meet a lion from the north—Academy High school of Erie, Pa. The Lions came charging into town Wednesday morning for the game accompanied by a band, the mayor of Erie, and a number of others.

Last year Tech High went to Erie, defeated the Lions' den and not only came out alive but also with a victory, by the scant margin of 6-to-3. The Smithies are hoping that this year they will be able to repeat this feat, but whether or not they will be dubious, to say the least.

Twenty-two Players Here.
The Erie squad is impressive in its size, not only in numbers but physically. The boys worked out Wednesday afternoon at Spiller's, getting the kinks out of their legs after the long train ride from the Pennsylvania city.

Twenty-two players were brought along and will be ready for action. Erie's star halfback, Cutri, also accompanied the squad but due to a bad shoulder injury will probably be unable to play.

Tech High wound up its preparation when Coach Tolbert sent his squad through a light workout on Grady field Wednesday afternoon. Hutt, quarter, and McNamara, center, who have been on the injury list, have practically recovered and will be able to play today, so it is generally believed. The rest of the Smithies' big squad is in good shape and ready to give a good account of itself in this afternoon's game.

Large Crowd Expected.
The first prep interschool game for Atlanta since 1926, when Tech High turned back the Steele High team, of Dayton, Ohio, by the rather close score of 7-6, is expected to draw a quite large crowd at Spiller's. A number of tickets have been sold and a large turnout is looked for.

Members of both teams were entertained Wednesday night at the Metropolitan theater as guests of Carter Barron, former Tech football star and now manager of the Met. Tonight, following the game, members of the Atlanta Lions club will entertain the Erie party at a banquet at the Hotel Chandler in Decatur.

Today's game marks the last of the season for Tech High, except its tilt for the G. I. A. A. title.

White Boxing Gloves To Be Given Trial

Chicago, December 5.—(AP)—White boxing gloves are to be given a trial in Illinois.

The Illinois state athletic commission has decided to try white gloves because several boxers have been incapacitated for long periods by having the dye from gloves infect bruises.

Ernest Borg, Nebraska coach, and one of the best in the game, was not a national football star but picked up most of his knowledge at the University of Illinois.

Gordon and Riverside Will Play For Right To Battle Smithies

Gordon institute, of Barnesville, and Riverside academy, also stated that the game had been played at Barnesville and therefore Riverside desired the second battle on a home and home basis.

This was agreed to at a telephone conference between officials of the two schools.

In announcing his decision, Coach Stegman declared Savannah's record entitled it to consideration as did Boys' High of Atlanta. Savannah was defeated by Tech, 3-to-0, when Hammond for the Smithies kicked a field goal in the last few minutes of play. Boys bowed before Tech, 12-to-6.

Coach Stegman stated he had based his final decision on the undefeated seasons boasted by both Gordon and Riverside.

BASKET FANS MUST BE GOOD AT ALL GAMES

Chicago, December 5.—(AP)—The right of basketball fans to razz the officials is slated for discard in the western conference.

Big Ten directors and coaches have decided that booing and hissing must go and are ready to take drastic steps, if necessary, to stop jeering. Education will be tried first, but that fails, the crowds will be policed.

Booing and hissing of officials by spectators at basketball games last year reached the stage where athletic directors expressed fear for the existence of basketball as a Big Ten sport. The directors, at their last meeting, discussed the subject and asked the cooperation of the coaches.

Acting at the instigation of the directors the coaches last week decided upon a vigorous educational program to stamp out all unsportsmanlike conduct at games this year.

Illinois was the first school to initiate such a program. George Huff, director of athletics, yesterday sent letters to all Illinois students asking their cooperation in abolishing "razzing" at the Illinois school. A mass meeting of students will be held tomorrow to draw up a sportsmanship code.

Other Big Ten schools are expected to adopt similar programs before the opening of the season January 5.

South Carolina To Meet Florida

Columbia, S. C., December 5.—(AP)—The football schedule of the University of South Carolina announced today has only one newcomer—Florida to take the place of Chicago.

An effort was made by Chicago authorities to have the game placed later in the season, but a conflicting date with Maryland made this impossible.

The Thanksgiving game with North Carolina State will be played at Raleigh again because of the heavy list of home contests.

The schedule follows:
September 28—Florida at Columbia.
October 6—Virginia at Columbia.
October 12—Maryland at College Park.
October 19—Presbyterian at Columbia (State fair).
October 24—Clemson at Columbia (State fair).
October 31—Citedel at Orangeburg.
November 9—North Carolina at Columbia.
November 16—Furman at Greenville.
November 23—Florida at Columbia.
November 28—North Carolina State at Raleigh.

Melchers Wins Prize.
Washington, December 5.—(AP)—Gari Melchers, of New York, today was awarded the "popular choice" $200 prize of the Corcoran art gallery for his painting, "A Native of Virginia." A portrait of an elderly woman leaning on a cane. The award was determined as a result of votes of visitors to the gallery last week in a public referendum on the biennial exhibition of contemporary American oil paintings.

Rickard Sees Two of Heavy Hopes Beaten

Promoter Now Looking for Fighter Who Can Stand Gaff in Ring Events.

New York, December 5.—Tex Rickard is looking for a fighter who can stand the "gaff."

Two of Rickard's prospective champions have been knocked out within five nights by rank outsiders. Knute Hansen's knockout at the hands of K. C. Christner, 34-year-old Akron heavy weight, has exploded the myth around "the man who was to succeed Tunney."

Jerry (Tuffy) Griffiths, the Sioux City light-heavyweight who had 55 straight victories to his credit, collapsed before the driving fists of James J. Braddock, a young over-looked Jersey City boy. Griffiths was hailed as "the killer of the ring"—another Dempsey. He never landed a solid punch on Braddock.

Hansen was thought so much of that a group of Wall street financiers formed a syndicate and purchased his contract and engaged Billy Gibson, who piloted Benny Leonard and Gene Tunney to world's championships, to handle him. In his first start under Gibson's direction, Hansen was knocked out in the eighth round of (10-round bout at Cleveland last night.

It looks like the minute you say something nice about a promising young fighter, he gets the swell head and forgets how to fight," Rickard said. "I never saw anything like it."

Atlantan Kayoed In Durham Fight

Durham, N. C., December 5.—(AP)—After being knocked down three times in the first round and ending the session reeling and groggy, Ad Warren, University of North Carolina, came back in the second and knocked out George Avera, Atlanta, heavyweight, with a right cross to the jaw in a scheduled 10-round bout here tonight.

The fight was the first for Warren since he sprained an arm several months ago.

Imported Costumes Will Be Worn In Oglethorpe Follies Today

Wearing imported Japanese costumes, flowing flower-embossed sleeves, sly tans and soft-slipping shoes, sent straight from the Orient to an Oglethorpe student, the cast of the Oglethorpe Players will open this evening at the Forsyth theater the initial performance of the Petrol Follies, the annual event of the players which attracts interested Atlantans from far and wide. The performance will be repeated Friday evening at the theater.

If the interest in former plays presented by this group is an indication, the Follies of 1928 will prove one of the outstanding amateur theatrical events of the season. A talented group of boy and girl students at Oglethorpe, who are members of the Oglethorpe Players, will compose the cast.

A brand-new dance hit, "The Bobby Jones Twist," which is expected to rival the "Varsity Drag" in popularity, will be one of the original innovations of the performance. Other numbers which only youth and enthusiasm can devise will delight those who are fortunate enough to see this refreshing entertainment by the Oglethorpe students. The follies were devised and are being directed by Earl Blackwell, a student of the university. The officers of the Oglethorpe Players include: Paul Madden, president; Earl Blackwell, vice president, and Jake Sutton, secretary and treasurer. The Oglethorpe orchestra is under the direction of Robert Shaw.

Outstanding among the social events of the day is the luncheon at which Misses Augusta Porter and Frances Barnett will entertain at the Piedmont Driving Club, honoring Misses Billie Johnson, Eleanor Maude, Hortense Adams, Rosalie Gandy, popular debutantes of the season. Mrs. Richard Milner will entertain at a bridge-luncheon at her home in Morningside in compliment to Mrs. Grady Veach, of Adairsville.

Poetry Forum Meets With Mrs. Allemon

The Poetry Forum of the Atlanta Writers' club meets Sunday afternoon, December 10, at 3 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. J. E. Allemon, 41 Fourth street, N. E. Send poems anonymously, with name and address in a sealed envelope, to Miss Gray, 75 Seventeenth street, N. E., no poems to be over 24 lines long. Some very good ones have already been received, and it is hoped a large number will be submitted.

Miss Richardson To Be Honored

Miss Anna E. Richardson, of Washington, D. C., field representative of child development and personal education for the American Economical association, a national organization with headquarters in the national capital, will be honor guest this afternoon at a tea given at 3 o'clock at Fulton High school. Deatur Better Films Committee Meets Today

Members of the Deatur Better Films committee are invited to meet at the home of the president, Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The guests of honor will be the prolog chairman, Mrs. Kirby Brenner, and the matinee chairman, Mrs. J. M. Lennard, since these two ladies are the only members of the committee who represent no organization. The Deatur Better Films committee enjoys the distinction of combining the interests of every organization in Deatur, each one having elected one member of the Better Films committee.

Every member is cordially invited to be present at this meeting, in order to take back to the various organizations some valuable information about the pictures to be shown during the next month at the Deatur. Cooperation in making the Monday matinee a greater success is also an object of this meeting. Any organization may sell tickets to the matinee and retain half the proceeds of the sale. A few of the parent-teacher organizations are the only ones at present availing themselves of this privilege. The officers of the Better Films committee who will assist Mrs. Stevenson are Mrs. W. A. Ozmer, Mrs. William Schley Howard, Mrs. A. L. Wade, Mrs. J. Howell Green and Mrs. C. P. Roberts.

Mrs. Hinman's Musicales Postponed

A musicale which was to have been given in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Alfred de Jonge by Mrs. George B. Hinman, at her home on Piedmont avenue, has been indefinitely postponed because of the illness of Mrs. Hinman. Mrs. Hinman was stricken with an attack of influenza on Tuesday and Wednesday was forced to recall the invitations to the affair.

Paxton, chairman of the advisory board, will act as toastmaster. Mrs. Robert Blackburn, well-known and popular reader, will give in her inimitable way a "Brer Rabbit" story by "Uncle Remus."

There will be a call meeting of the executive board at 11 o'clock at the Georgian Terrace preceding the luncheon. At 3 o'clock a tree planting exercise will be held at "Uncle Remus" pecan trees having been donated by Mr. W. C. Jones, of Cairo, Ga., for this purpose. Open house will be observed at the "Wren's Nest" from 4 to 6 o'clock, and officers and chairmen of the association will receive with Mrs. A. M. D. Wilson, the president of the association.

Woman's Club Nets $500 From Benefit Bridge de Luxe

Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith and Mrs. Hamilton Douglas, chairmen of the benefit bridge party de luxe sponsored by the Atlanta Woman's club Tuesday at the clubhouse, announce $500 netted from the brilliant occasion, which was attended by several hundred members of the club and their friends. Preceding the game, which was played in the spacious rooms of the club's lower floor, the guests assembled in the club auditorium where Mrs. Charles Goodman, president of the club, introduced Mrs. Annie Adair Foster, noted bridge authority. Mrs. Foster gave an interesting survey of rules for bridge playing and touched upon the mysteries governing contract bridge. During the playing of the game, Mrs. George Ripley sold homemade candy, the funds realized from the sale assisting in the financial success of the affair. A spirited feature of the occasion was the awarding of the beautiful and numerous prizes by Mrs. Shepard Bryan assisted by Mrs. W. D. Williamson.

At the conclusion of the game tea was served by Mrs. T. J. Ripley and an efficient committee.

Music Club Hears Delightful Musicale.

A joint recital by Miss Margaret Baker Bittel, soprano; Mrs. Lillian Rogers Gilbreath, pianist, and Francis Henley Gilbreath, violinist, was the exceedingly delightful offering of the Atlanta Music club on Wednesday morning at the Atlanta Woman's club.

Mrs. Gilbreath, who is new to the Atlanta audience, promptly and completely won her listeners with the masterful rendition of the first movement of the Borowski concerto in D minor, with Miss Edna Bartholomew in her impressive style, at the second piano. Mr. Gilbreath, for several years recognized as a violinist of the top ranks in Atlanta, was unable to appear, on account of illness. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gilbreath are of the faculty of the Morgan-Stevens Conservatory of Music. Mrs. Gilbreath has a charm in immersing herself in the text of the composition, as was evinced by her playing of the Chopin "Nocturne in E Major." Her performance of Dolmazy's "Etude-Capriccio" was brilliant and a nourishing morsel for musical thought. The enthusiasm of the audience brought forth as an encore "The Bach Saint-Saens."

Miss Margaret Baker Bittel, soprano, with her sister, Miss Helen Battle, at the piano, did verify make of their offerings a concerto for voice and piano. It did seem that in the selection of the numbers that there were as many exacting demands made of the usual secondary part, the accompaniment, as that of the soloist—the soprano. And there was always a continuity of thought and execution between these two artist sisters. The first two vocal numbers, "O My Saviour," from "Christmas Oratorio," and Handel's "Rejoice Greatly," from "The Messiah," in characteristically vocal style to which Miss Battle seemed particularly gifted. A group of miscellaneous songs, still carrying the profound classical motive artistically rendered were Lohr's "The Passion Is But An Ember," Spross' "It Is the Sunset Hour," Poundra's "Carnival," Miss Battle's selection of "The Pastoral," from the "Old English Melodies," compiled by H. Lane Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Thomas and Miss Mary Thomas were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Alderman on Glen avenue, Morningside, Thursday. Mrs. Lucy Edwards is spending the week-end as the guests of relatives in Gainesville.

Mrs. J. Hill visited her sister, Mrs. J. Culpepper, in Calhoun Thursday.

Miss Lucile Florence, who recently underwent serious operation, has recovered and was the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Minor, for a few days before returning to her home.

Martha Brown Memorial church membership entertained at a farewell party Wednesday evening, honoring Rev. and Mrs. George King and family, the former pastor who left this week for their new home in Rome. A guest of honor of the occasion was the new pastor, Rev. Logan, who has been sent to fill this pastorate. The evening was featured with some old-fashioned games and refreshments were served by a committee. The entertainment was held in the auditorium of the new educational building. Rev. and Mrs. King were presented with a silver fruit basket, as a token of esteem and love, by the membership of the church. The honor guest was presented with a basket of cut flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Meador, Mrs. Dora Goodroe and sister, Miss Susie Cleveland, of Cleveland, Ga., were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Everett, Sr. and Mrs. Mrs. Aiken, Thanksgiving.

Of interest to a large circle of friends was the marriage of Miss Rosa Cecelia Burton and Emory Quirk Hollingsworth, which took place Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The ring ceremony was performed by Rev. George L. King at his home on Metropolitan avenue. In the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends, the bride wore a becoming winter model of dark blue crepe, with accessories to match. No Fat At 40 If you take care

Science has found out how the term "Fat and Forty" came about. A great cause of excess fat has been traced to a weakened gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. At middle age it often weakens, and sometimes much before.

Medical research has found a way to correct that deficiency. The result is not only loss in weight, but gain in health and vigor. Physicians the world over now employ it in obesity.

That method is embodied in Marmola's prescription tablets. People have used them for 21 years—millions of boxes of them. Year by year the use has grown as people everywhere saw the remarkable results. Now people are not fat at forty when they fight fat in the right way.

Marmola is not secret. It simply applies a method which all modern physicians know. The formula appears in every box, also the reasons for the good results. You know exactly why fat disappears and new vitality accrues.

No starvation is required, but moderation helps. One simply takes four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. The aim is to supply what the gland fails to supply and thus turn the food into fuel and energy.

If your figure is anywhere abnormal try Marmola. Do this for the sake of youth and beauty, health and vigor. Do it because Marmola has done so much to increase the joy of living. Don't delay. Watch what the first box does.

Marmola's prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will order.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

BUSTER BEAR AT BAY.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Beware of those you bring to bay; They're primed and ready for the fray. —Buster Bear.

Buster Bear was badly worried. He was growing more worried with every jump. Behind him several dogs were barking louder and louder. Of course, this meant that they were gaining. Buster was growing more and more tired. He had started that long run on a full stomach, and running on a full stomach is bad for any one. Now he was short of breath, tired and most uncomfortable. What to do he didn't know, so he just kept on running.

Nearer and nearer and nearer sounded the voices of those dogs. They were getting very much excited. Suddenly, one of them burst out of the brush behind Buster and, bounding forward, snapped at Buster's leg. Buster stopped running. He whirled about, so as to face those dogs. No, he was at bay. That means that he had reached the point where he could no longer run, but if he did those dogs would jump on him from behind. The time had come when he must turn and fight.

He whirled about so a sto face those dogs.

Buster Bear forgot now that he was tired and out of breath. He was simply angry. He was very angry, indeed. His rather small eyes glowed red. A dog came within reach. Like a flash one of Buster's great paws shot out and knocked that dog heels over head. How he did yell!

But what was only one dog, and there were five others. They were all around him, yelping and barking and making short rushes at him to try to pull him down. Buster got his back to a tree. That prevented any dog from getting directly behind him. It was a big tree. If he should climb it, he would be out of reach of those dogs. He wanted to climb it. Yes, sir, he wanted to climb it. The dogs couldn't follow him there.

"But if those hunters are following," thought Buster, "I don't want to be up in any tree. That is just where they would like to have me. It would make it very easy for them to shoot me with their terrible guns. No, sir, I'm not going to climb this tree nor any other tree. There, how do you like that?"

This last was to one of the dogs which had ventured within reach. Now he was picking himself up whining and yelping and walking on three legs. You see, Buster's big paw had caught him fairly and when Buster hits, he hurts. There were now two dogs out of the fight. Buster set out to get rid of the others. He made a rush at the nearest one. The dog took to his heels. But the instant Buster left that big tree another dog darted in and nipped one of his heels. Buster whirled like a flash, but the dog was out of reach. Such a racket as those dogs were making! Buster himself was adding a little to the noise. He was snarling and growling, and his snarls and growls were not pleasant to hear. In fact, they are quite unpleasant.

Such a noise as Buster and those dogs were making! All the other wild folk within hearing distance hurried to see the great fight from as near as they dared go. This wasn't very near, excepting in the case of the birds. And there were others hurrying to the scene of the great fight. There was the farmer whose pigs had been stolen, and with him were several of his nearest neighbors. Each carried a terrible gun. They knew by the sounds that Buster Bear was at bay and now they hurried faster than ever. They wanted to get there while he was still at bay, for then there would be no difficulty in shooting him. It looked very much as if those dogs would hold him there until the hunters could come up and kill him.

Famous Recipe For Stopping a Severe Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drug store. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, soothes away the inflammation, and loosens the germ-laden phlegm. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of cressote, a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

THE YOUNG PRETENDERS

By Alice Grant Rosman

SYNOPSIS

Lying helpless in bed after a motor accident, Hugo Donaldson broods over the fact that his father, with whom he's quarreled just before the smash, has never come into his room to visit him. He decides he must be dead and his mother and the servants keeping the truth from him. His aunt, Lady Eleanor Wise, a great gossip, comes to call and tells Hugo that his friend, Paul Molyneux, is in prison for stealing; that he married a girl of whom his family disapproved; and that Paul Molyneux had expected to marry Paul and is heartbroken.

Bunny comes to see Hugo and tells him she believes Paul has been the victim of blackmailers and she is shocked that his family, because of his marriage, failed to stand back of him. The girl assures Hugo she was never engaged to Paul, but would like to help him, because of their lifelong friendship. Hugo gives her his red toothbrush, which he calls Miss Trotsky.

Paul's wife, living in disguise under the name of Mrs. Hallett, is forced to earn her living. When Hugo asks for some one to read him every day, his nurse, Tright, her on as a reader. She is pleased to have this opportunity to study these friends of Paul's whom she believes have proved to be his enemies, and is much surprised to find out that Hugo is loyal to his friend, and only his accident has prevented his coming to Paul's assistance. Tright catches him as he goes to the boy's father to him, as the sight of Sir Richard agitated Hugo while he was delirious, and the doctors have advised his keeping away. The invalid finds his reader an entertaining companion and begins to call her "Hallett."

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

BUNNY KEEPS HER PROMISE.

His mother came in to tea with him that afternoon, full of news about Tessie's beautiful wedding presents, her dress and bridesmaids, which Hugo, knowing the bride, decided she must have extracted almost by force.

"Dear Tessie. She is a very lucky girl," said Lady Donaldson. "But I am glad. I have always liked the Anstruther children."

Hugo, with his own picture of Tessie still clear before him, did not contradict her, for it came to him that he and his mother looked upon the same world with different eyes. Their views, like two parallel lines, could never meet. Lady Tessie, poor Mary Molyneux, darling Bunny with no parents to comfort her, dear Aunt Eleanor who was so important, these strangers of his mother's making passed in procession before his mind, and he knew his version of them would be equally grotesque to her.

"Mother," he said, "I've given Miss Trotsky away. I've given her to Bunny."

"Hugo, darling!"

His mother was startled, amazed, and, he thought with glee, a little shocked.

"You didn't like having her about, I know," he said. "Made you see telegraph poles, didn't she, the head-headed hussy? But, never mind, she's out of your sight now. Bunny's got her. You see, I couldn't give her to just anybody."

His mother's eyes were very soft. "You did it for me, my dearest boy," she said, "and I know you were fond of the little car. I was merely surprised, because isn't it rather unusual for a young man to give a car to a girl, even if he has known her all his life?"

"Well, I hope it was unusual," said Hugo, much pleased. "I thought I'd like to be unusual just for the fun of the thing. By the way, what became of the books and things I sent home from Oxford? Do you happen to know?"

"I put them in the bookshelves in your old room, dear. They were such shabby looking books," explained Lady Donaldson, "and I wanted you to have only nice bright bindings in your bookshelves up here. But all your things are perfectly safe, just as you left them."

"Artistic little mother, aren't you?" said Hugo, congratulating her about the bright bindings because he was grateful to her for keeping his old den of horrors downstairs.

Womes were queer, he thought. She little knew what a comfort it would have been to him to lie in his shabby room looking on the din of Knightsbridge, with all his old treasures round him.

"But then," he remarked, "I couldn't have seen Bunny driving Miss Trotsky through the park."

When his mother had gone he lay thinking of Bunny, smiling drowsily. He wondered whether she would drive past his windows presently, and tried to persuade himself that she would not as a safeguard against disappointment. Of course, she wouldn't be coming round this way. Why should she? It was unreasonable to expect it. She had had a lot of things to do today.

There was a discreet knock at the door and Leeder, looking like a conspirator, came in with a cautious glance in the direction of Tright's room.

"Well, now sir, I didn't know they'd taken your tea tray," said Leeder in a surprised tone, making signs.

"Oh, yes, thanks," said Hugo, immediately becoming a conspirator, too. "I say, Leeder, while you're here, would you mind just moving this chair a trifle?"

"Certainly, sir," said the first conspirator, loudly and courteously, and he approached the bed to thrust a fat envelope into the pocket of his trousers. "You're sure you want it moved, sir?"

"Miss Molyneux telephoned me on the Q. T. to say would I be sure to answer the bell in person round about 5 o'clock, sir, because this was to be put into your own hands, most confidential," whispered Leeder.

"Thanks awfully, Leeder, that will do nicely," said Hugo aloud, for Tright's benefit, and the two conspirators exchanged an understanding smile.

Hugo had thrust the fat envelope quickly under the bedclothes for he knew well what it contained—his newspaper cuttings. Bunny had got them for him as she had promised, and knowing he was anxious to see them, she had actually taken the trouble to telephone to Leeder to bring them to him at once. He tried to let the wonder of Bunny's kindness fill his mind, to shut out the dreadful beating of his heart, for the moment of revelation was at hand, and hope and fear were doing a devil dance within him. Must he condemn his father?

Tright looked in and Hugo said in rather a strained voice, "It looks nice on the balcony. Couldn't I go out for a bit?"

He was not looking for Bunny, for she had done enough for him already and why should she go on of her way to pass his window? It was childish to expect it. But the air was lovely out here, and the long vistas of the park, so deeply green at this glowing hour of the afternoon, rested his eyes. He did not even look at the cars going by, though he liked the familiar music of their passing, until for off he heard a "toot, toot," and knew she was coming after all.

Miss Trotsky's voice for a certainty. He couldn't mistake it. Yes, there she was, a flash of scarlet, flying along at a great rate through the solar traffic, small, impudent Miss Trotsky, with Bunny at the wheel.

Three long calls as she drew up beneath him; Bunny with her hat off, waving gaily, and the old hound, two paws on the door and his tongue out, wagging a tail in greeting.

"Bunny looks well in red," said Hugo to himself, and a smile of satisfaction spread over his face. He took out the precious letter and held it aloft for her to see.

"Toot, toot," said Miss Trotsky, sounding pleased, and Hugo answered her from his balcony in a long call that brought Tright to the door in astonishment. He had never known his patient to burst into song before.

Bunny got out and, hands in pockets, walked round her car, surveying it with every sign of pride and admiration. She had a red flower in her coat to match Miss Trotsky's, a touch of red in her hat, too, and as she stepped on to the footboard again, he saw her scarlet shoes.

"Very smart," thought Hugo.

The little car said goodbye at last, and as her new owner, broadly smiling, guided her away, but though the increasing traffic soon hid her from sight, the boy on the balcony could still hear her voice occasionally as she rattled gaily under Bunny's hand.

His own, he presently discovered, was clutching something, his precious envelope, of course. With a secret glance over his shoulder, he set himself to tear it open, and with trembling fingers, drew something out. OXFORD UNDERGRADUATE IN MOTOR SMASH—SON OF SIR RICHARD DONALDSON, K. C. SERIOUSLY INJURED.

The black letters danced before him under the shelter of the eiderdown, but somehow he could not read the smaller type because he was shaking too much. His groping hand found another cutting. No, it was a sheet of note paper this time, and he opened it eagerly.

"Here you are, old Hugo," he read, "dozens of 'em. Love from Bunny."

His fingers closed upon it and the world grew dim.

New York, December 5.—(AP)—An opening advance in response to a relatively steady Liverpool market was followed by irregular fluctuations in the cotton market here today. January caused a brief rise to 20.25, under some southern selling and further liquidation, but recovered part of the loss, closing at 20.34 on renewed covering. The general market closed steady at net advances of 3 to 5 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 5 to 10 points with the cotton months selling about 12 to 15 points higher during the first few minutes on grade buying and a little local or commission house buying which seemed to be promoted by continued favorable reports from the cotton goods trade and relatively steady Liverpool cables. The demand was soon supplied by southern selling and liquidation, however, and the market eased off during the middle of the day. December sold down from 20.43 to 20.25 and May from 20.22 to 20.20, or about 3 to 5 points lower, but offerings tapered off at the lower prices and there were rallies later on renewed covering. Closing prices were within 4 or 5 points of the best figures touched on the opening advance.

Business was quiet during the greater part of the day, but a few orders were attributed largely to further evening up of accounts in preparation for the government's crop and ginning figures which are scheduled for publication on Saturday. Another report was issued today, estimating the crop at 13,967,000 bales and ginnings up to December 1 at 12,900,000 bales. These figures were within the range of reports previously published, and appeared to be without effect on the market. Up to the close of business seven of the eight months were marked by an upward pointing to a crop on the average of 14,029,000 bales, the minimum estimate being 13,800,000 and the maximum 14,258,000.

Private figures on ginnings to December 1 have ranged from 12,900,000 to 12,950,000 bales, and averaged 12,925,000. The figures on the steadiness of Liverpool to trade calling with local, London and continental buying, and said that sentiment in Manchester was optimistic with more cotton looms and spindles running there than for a considerable time. Exports today 14,065, making 3,578,500 so far this year. Exports to date 24,919,000. U. S. port stocks 2,300,328.

MARKET EASES OFF UNTIL FINAL TRADING.

New Orleans, December 5.—(AP)—The cotton market was comparatively quiet today with trading made up mostly of covering and liquidation in an effort to even commitments in advance of the government's crop report due Saturday. Following an early decline the market eased 3 to 5 points in final trading there was a renewal of covering and January contracts which had eased off to 19.70, 19.72 and 19.74 were issued during the day making the indicated 3.25 to 4.00. Stocks 2,927,974; last year 2,619,490. Stock on shipboard 145,190. Spot sales 38,334; last year 21,377.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER, Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, December 5.—(AP)—A call money renewal rate of 9 per cent for the first time in eight years and the stand of the Federal Reserve bank had successfully endeavored to check the flow of credit into speculative channels, caused the dull session on the stock market today since election day.

Prices melted about in confusion, pools succeeding in boosting a handful of issues from 35 to 35 points, while the bulk of the list was inclining to heaviness, many stocks falling back 2 to 12 points. The Associated Press financial writer said the market was depressed about a half point, while the average of 20 rails registered nearly a point. Total sales aggregated 4,371,400 shares.

Call money held at 9 per cent all day, as the reduced requirements of the market were supplied by an inflow of funds at that figure. Bankers look for a continuance of higher rates with the federal reserve bank apparently restricting its purchases of government securities, and more than $200,000,000 in acceptances purchased falling due before the first of the year.

Placed by Mellon's View. The day's news, outside of the credit situation, was largely favorable. Secretary Mellon's comments on the position of industry in his report to congress gave considerable satisfaction to Wall street, as did President Coolidge's message on the budget, in which he estimated that the fiscal year would show a substantial surplus rather than the large deficit which faced the country last summer.

The steel trade reviews were again pleasing, indicating that the demand for major industries was holding up well, and estimating that pig iron production for the year will be the largest since the war with the exception of 1926.

Commodity markets were generally quiet, although corn receded on reports of weather facilitating the movement of crops. Trade in oil was largely an evening up of contracts pending the final government report, but the Saturday.

In the foreign exchanges a feature was the firmness of sterling, despite the high interest rates in New York. The Canadian dollar hovering just above the gold point, arose hope that some of the gold recently lost to Montreal may flow back.

Radio Up to 420. Radio shot up 12 to 12 points to a new record price of 420, which is about 400 points more than it sold for on the curb four years ago. It cancelled most of its gain at the close, however. Western Union was also strong, making an extreme gain of about 8 points, which gave rise to further reports that plans were being completed for a combination of the communications business of the two companies. An unconfirmed rumor, however, that the two companies were planning to merge, was not taken seriously.

Stromberg Carburator. The Stromberg Carburator 5 to new Packard climbing 10 points to new top, while Chrysler and Mack Truck stepped up 3 points. General Motors, however, sold off 5 points at one time.
